Wirtz Tries For Accord With Labor

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL—CIO drafts further argument today against a White House proposal to limit wage increases, while Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz tries to patch holes in the Johnson administration's alliance with organized labor.

Wirtz is staying an extra day to talk with officials of the big labor federation, who Monday rejected his pleas to heed President Johnson's wage guidelines.

Wirtz reportedly found deeper discontent among the labor chiefs than he had bargained for.

"I think he got the message," said one member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council which held several hours of talks with Wirtz behind closed doors.

The federation's Economic Council today begins drafting a report which is expected to bolster opposition to any federal plna to restrict wage demands without also controlling increases in prices and profits.

The report, informed sources said, also will argue that the nation's strong economy can afford both the guns of its war needs in Viet Nam and the butter of Johnson's "Great Society" program.

The federation is expected to urge Johnson and Congress to impose excess profit taxes on corporations instead of trying to hold down the income of wage earners.

In another meeting, AFL-CIO maritime officials met to map plans for their threatened boycott of hundreds of foreign ship — including those of U.S. allies — that deal with North Viet Nam.

Although the encounter between Wirtz and the AFL-CIO hierarchy was described by both sides as amicable, Wirtz said the labor leaders forcefully expressed their views against White House guide lines that try to limit wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said the action of Johnson's economic advisors, in failing to boost the figure to 3.6 per cent in line with the big 1965 increase in the Gross National Product, "smacks of trickery."

Wirtz told the AFL-CIO leaders he was not enough of an economist to say whether labor contentions that the guidelines should also apply to booming industry profits was "a proper comparison."

UN Council Seen Aiding Peace Effort

Goldberg Confident It Will Be Helpful In Settlement Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg says he is confident the U.N. Security Council will be helpful in promoting a settlement of the Viet Nam war.

After meeting with President Johnson for more than three hours Monday, Goldberg told newsmen the Viet Nam situation calls for patience and fortitude.

He said the United States never held the view that the United Nations was the appropriate agency to conduct actual peace negotiations.

Instead, he said, the decision to take the Viet Nam case before the Security Council was to interest member nations in promoting an honorable peace.

Some member nations are working in that direction although debate in the Security Council has been adjourned for two and a half weeks, he added.

Asked for comment on a suggestion by Canada's external affairs minister, Paul Martin, that the Geneva Conference be reconvened on Viet Nam, Goldberg replied that the United States shares that view.

While the ambassador was meeting with the President at the White House, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was meeting with newsmen on Capitol Hill. The Arkansas Democrat said his committee, which has provided the battleground for the televised Viet Nam policy argument, will meet Wednesday to discuss whether to call in some China experts.

Fulbright said committee members agreed they would welcome testimony from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey after his return from his Asian trip. Humphrey has said he would not testify in a public session but has not ruled out a closed meeting.

Like Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Fulbright believes the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong, should be represented in any peace negotiations and should not be excluded from the postear Saigon government.

Thousands Reported In Huge Drive

Pushing To Cripple Red Operation 35 Miles From Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of American fighting men hunted the Viet Cong on two fronts today after B52 superfortresses bombed only a few miles ahead of them to crumble Communist defenses.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division found 38 Viet Cong dead and evidence of considerably more Red casualties after moving into a Communist triangle 10 to 12 miles south of Bong Son in the coastal plains 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

At times the eight-engine Air Force bombers from Guam dropped their 500- and 750-pound bombs only two to three miles in front of the advancing cavalrymen. U.S. spokesmen said the air cavalry killed another 20 Viet Cong Monday raising the division's total of Communist dead since it began operations in the ricefields on the South China Sea coast Jan. 25 to a total of 1,130.

In the jungles 35 miles northwest of Saigon, thousands of U.S. infantrymen began Operation Mastiff in an attempt to cripple Viet Cong forces operating on the capital's doorstep. Like the air cavalrymen, the 1st Infantry Division combed the thick forests after the area had been softened up by B52s.

Although the six or seven war-hardened Viet Cong regiments in the area, perhaps 8,400 men, offered only token resistance, American officers said the operation could erupt into one of the major actions of the war. Two guerrillas were reported killed as the infantrymen of the "Big Red One" poured into the area Monday by helicopter, armored car and truck.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes continued the air war against North Viet Nam, striking barracks near the old French fortress of Dien Bien Phu, storage areas, approaches to bridges and roads in the panhandle between Vinh and the 17th Parallel. U.S. officials said poor weather prevented a firm assessment of damage.

On the ground, the Viet Cong struck back by ambushing two South Vietnamese convoys in the past 24 hours on Route 1, the main north-south highway.

Van Dyne Tops Fire Chief Test

Swearing in of Alfred R. Van Dyne as chief of the fire department to succeed the late Charles Bryan will be held before the end of the week, Mayor George E. Willshaw said today.

The mayor said the ceremony will be held after he receives official notification from the Municipal Civil Service Commission that Van Dyne, a fireman for nearly 26 years and an assistant chief since Jan. 1, 1958, scored the highest grade in a promotional examination held Monday night.

BECAUSE TODAY is a legal holiday and City Hall offices are closed, the commission's certification probably won't be received until some time Wednesday.

Van Dyne topped Asst. Chiefs James Pelley and Gerald T. Goodballet in last night's test. The chief's post pays $540 a month.

Under state law, the man scoring the highest grade in a promotional test automatically receives the advancement. The mayor is the appointing authority for chiefs of the fire and police departments.

H. A. Tullis, commission chairman, said Pelley ranked second and Goodballet third, with the eligibility list established by the test remaining in effect for two years.

Tullis declined to reveal the scores, but said they may be announced later. It was learned, however, that Van Dyne's grade was approximately 14 points higher than Pelley's.

ALFRED VAN DYNE
Slated To Replace Bryan.

The source for material used in the examination, composed of multiple choice and true and false questions, was taken from the March 1962 reprint of the fire service training manual distributed by the trade and industrial education instructional material laboratory at Ohio State University.

The test itself required approximately 80 minutes for completion and grading required about 90 minutes, Tullis said.

The final grade was also based on seniority and efficien-

5 Calves Die As Fire Hits District Barn

SUMMITVILLE — Five calves and a quantity of hay were destroyed this morning when flames leveled a large barn at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. David Grimm along Dobson Rd., about three miles southeast of here.

Grimm was at work at the Peerless Clay Co. and his wife and two children were not at home when a neighbor spotted the blaze about 8 a.m.

Franklin Township and Salineville volunteer firemen kept the fire from destroying a nearby sheep barn and granary, but the heat ignited the tarpaper roof and scorched the side of the barn.

Carl Bach, whose farm is opposite Grimm's, saw the flames and notified Franklin firemen. Franklin sent one truck and Salineville dispatched a truck and pumper.

The two-story frame barn, which had a slate roof, was about 40 by 50 feet in size. In it were the calves, a lime spreader, 500 bales of hay and some sack feed, according to Grimm, who said the loss is partiallly covered by insurance.

An electrical short circuit may have caused the blaze, firemen said.

New Violence Being Feared In Indonesia

Sukarno Ouster Of Army Strongman May Spark Trouble

SINGAPORE (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno's ouster of his army strongman, Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, could touch off new violence in Indonesia, diplomatic sources said today.

It could lead to "an explosion" between the regular army and some forces loyal to Sukarno, the diplomats said.

Sukarno announced in a broadcast Monday that he had fired Nasution as defense minister but did not clarify whether he had also removed him as armed forces chief.

The two titles had been combined. Sukarno said the joint post has been abolished.

Nasution led the army in crushing the Communist-led coup against Sukarno last Oct. 1 and has been responsible for the purge of the Indonesian Communist party since then.

On Viet Peace Effort

Soviet Rejects Wilson's Appeal

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain called on Soviet leaders today to help promote unconditional peace talks on Viet Nam before the war there spreads through Asia and possibly the world.

But Premier Alexei N. Kosygin brushed aside Wilson's appeal, demanding instead acceptance of North Viet Nam's terms for a peace parley. These have been rejected both by the Saigon and U.S. governments.

Kosygin insisted any settlement must fulfill the 1954 Geneva agreements.

Wilson and Kosygin spoke at a luncheon attended by most members of the Soviet Communist party's "collective leadership."

Where Wilson stressed points of British-Soviet accord on Viet Nam, Kosygin criticized the United States for bombing attacks on the North and its land against the Viet Cong in the South.

The luncheon was held after Wilson and Kosygin held their first talks.

A discussion of British-Soviet relations, with emphasis on Wilson's desire for greater Soviet purchases of British goods, was on the agenda for the opening session.

International matters, particularly the differing Moscow and London views on the deepening crisis in Asia, also were high on the work program.

As the exchanges began, Pravda, organ of the Soviet Communist party, published a blast against what it said are Western plans to arm West Germany with nuclear weapons.

A dispatch from the paper's Washington correspondent described a meeting of five North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense ministers in the U.S. capital last week as "another step along the road of Bonn's possession of nuclear weapons."

This is to be a major topic in the Kosygin-Wilson talks.

Pennsylvania Assembly Due Special Call

Scranton Expected To Give Legislature Notice Wednesday

HARRISBURG (AP)—Because of the holiday, Gov. Scranton will not issue a call today for a special session of the General Assembly as had been expected, his office announced.

"Most likely he will issue the call tomorrow," Jack L. Conmy Scranton's press secretary said.

It had been expected that the governor would call today for a special session to include a number of topics for legislative consideration. But the fact that it is George Washington's Birthday has caused a change in plans.

Republican and Democratic legislative leaders, meanwhile, scheduled a morning conference to resume discussions aimed at reaching accord on congressional reapportionment.

Scranton reportedly reached his decision to call the special session, probably to convene Monday, after a meeting Monday with the GOP leadership.

Sources said the chief executive was almost certain to include these topics in his proclamation:

A boost in manpower for the state police; community college construction by the State Public School Building Authority; a school district reorganization moratorium for those districts contesting a realignment in the courts; an interstate mine compact; and implementation legislation to permit retired judges to be recalled for temporary duty to ease court backlogs.

Other potential subjects, according to the sources, included highway beautification and bituminous mine subsidence.

Humphrey In Seoul On Last Leg Of Trip

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Seoul tonight on the last leg of a nine-nation Asian tour as the South Korean government appeared ready to send more combat troops to Viet Nam.

Humphrey's 21-hour stopover was expected to seal a U.S.-South Korean agreement to increase substantially the 20,000-man Korean force in Viet Nam.

Another Meeting Set Thursday

Hancock Delays Decision On Assessment At Track

A move by County Assessor Frank Pirraglia of Weirton to increase the real estate assessment of Waterford Park race track from $673,000 to $1,592,000 was challenged Monday during a closed meeting of the Hancock County commissioners at the courthouse in New Cumberland.

The track was represented by Frank A. Pietranton, Weirton attorney, and Howard Graham of Chester, track comptroller. The latter is the brother of William C. Graham of Chester, Grant District commissioner.

Sitting as a Board of Review and Equalization, the commissioners deliberated on the assessments compiled for fiscal 1965-66 by Pirraglia. Commissioners present were Graham, Jack Evans of New Cumberland and James Finley of Weirton, court president.

Also attending were Gus Dinaco of Weirton and W. R. Martin of Charleston, both representing the state tax office, and Floyd Tarr of Weirton, serving as legal adviser for the county court.

According to Pirraglia's figures, the race track was assessed for this year at $1,592,000 in Class III real estate; $75,000 in Class I personal property, and $43,600 in Class III personal property.

The clubhouse was burned to the ground in 1964 and the property assessment was set for 1964-65 at $673,000. However, Pirraglia pointed out, a new building was erected last year and he had set the new assessment figure at the standard rate of 50 per cent of the market value.

The county commissioners earlier had asked the state tax

Aliquippa police said Freeman will be charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Resolution Cites Lack Of Funds

Wellsville Council Begins Official Stand On Route 7

A resolution declaring Wellsville's inability to financially participate in the proposed relocation of Route 7 through the city was placed on first reading by City Council during a special meeting Monday night. Two more readings are required for passage.

Council also gave first reading to another resolution objecting to the proposed abandonment of portions of existing Routes 7 and 39 in conjunction with the project, while a third resolution was tabled for further study.

Another special meeting will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Allen Baldwin, Council president, and Councilmen Jack Call and Glenn Mathess were absent last night. Councilman Nunzio Lombardozzi, president pro-tem, presided.

The first resolution simply states that the city is financially incapable of cooperating with the Ohio Highway Deepartment in the relocation within the community.

The other objects to the abandonment of parts of Routes 7 and 39 under present conditions and asks that such routes be resurfaced before such action is taken.

The third resolution would approve the center line for the project as proposed by the highway department.

Following a lengthy discussion, it was determined the primary objection is to the location of the center line east of the floodwall at Little Yellow Creek.

The objection centers around the belief that the area south of Wells Ave. should be preserved for commercial expansion of the

Hearing Set Tomorrow In Phillis Case

LISBON — Opening statements are scheduled to be heard Wednesday morning before Judge Joel H. Sharp in Common Pleas Court here on an appeal by Russell V. Phillis, ousted superintendent of the County Home, against a December decision by the Ohio Personnel Board of Review at Columbus.

Phillis was fired in early October on charges filed by two of the three commissioners. The former superintendent and his attorneys, G. William Brokaw of East Liverpool and Howard Cole of Lisbon, then appealed the case to the Personnl Board of Review, which upheld the decision of the commissioners.

Signing the order against Phillis were Commissioners R. Max Gard and Frank Wilson. James Boyd declined to affix his signature because of wording of the letter.

Robert Boyce is now serving as the home's superintendent.

Mrs. Wilson Pushes On In Pigeon 'War'

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson, Council's only woman member, pushed ahead Monday night with her efforts to persuade her fellow members to declare war on the pigeons that roost on East Liverpool homes and business places.

Mrs. Wilson presented copies of Cincinnati and Indianapolis ordinances which, she said, permit authorized city employes to destroy the pigeons with gunfire. She said she also has a copy of an ambiguous Canton ordinance which declares pigeons "a public nuisance" and provided for their eradication, without explaining what methods will be used.

Mrs. Wilson said she has written to Canton officials in attempt to learn how the pigeon problem is dealt with there, but she said she has received no reply.

A city ordinance calling for destroying the pigeons would only be invoked on private property at the request of the owner, she said.

"Therefore, the people who love them can continue to harbor them and clean up the dirt," she said. She said the average life span of a pigeon is 10 years and it leaves an estimated 100 off-spring "so there is no real danger of them becoming extinct."

Mrs. Wilson also cited controls tried in other communities but said they were not effective. One city tried "birth control pills" with the thought that the pigeon population gradually would disappear, she said. another strung electric wires in their roosting places and one town used high - pressure water hoses to knock them off their roosts, she said.

Still another community tried shining blinding lights on the pigeon roosts with the thought the pigeons would become sleepless and leave town, but they merely sheltered themselves from the lights, Mrs. Wilson said.

Jack Bonner, acting city health commissioner, said the Health Department has been working on a plan under which pigeon fanciers would trap the birds in the upper floors of downtown buildings, then possibly burn them over to the Humane Society for disposal.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Wirtz Tries For Accord With Labor

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL—CIO drafts further argument today against a White House proposal to limit wage increases, while Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz tries to patch holes in the Johnson administration's alliance with organized labor.

Wirtz is staying an extra day to talk with officials of the big labor federation, who Monday rejected his pleas to heed President Johnson's wage guidelines.

Wirtz reportedly found deeper discontent among the labor chiefs than he had bargained for.

"I think he got the message," said one member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council which held several hours of talks with Wirtz behind closed doors.

The federation's Economic Council today begins drafting a report which is expected to bolster opposition to any federal plna to restrict wage demands without also controlling increases in prices and profits.

The report, informed sources said, also will argue that the nation's strong economy can afford both the guns of its war needs in Viet Nam and the butter of Johnson's "Great Society" program.

The federation is expected to urge Johnson and Congress to impose excess profit taxes on corporations instead of trying to hold down the income of wage earners.

In another meeting, AFL-CIO maritime officials met to map plans for their threatened boycott of hundreds of foreign ship — including those of U.S. allies — that deal with North Viet Nam.

Although the encounter between Wirtz and the AFL-CIO hierarchy was described by both sides as amicable, Wirtz said the labor leaders forcefully expressed their views against White House guide lines that try to limit wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said the action of Johnson's economic advisors, in failing to boost the figure to 3.6 per cent in line with the big 1965 increase in the Gross National Product, "smacks of trickery."

Wirtz told the AFL-CIO leaders he was not enough of an economist to say whether labor contentions that the guidelines should also apply to booming industry profits was "a proper comparison."

UN Council Seen Aiding Peace Effort

Goldberg Confident It Will Be Helpful In Settlement Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg says he is confident the U.N. Security Council will be helpful in promoting a settlement of the Viet Nam war.

After meeting with President Johnson for more than three hours Monday, Goldberg told newsmen the Viet Nam situation calls for patience and fortitude.

He said the United States never held the view that the United Nations was the appropriate agency to conduct actual peace negotiations.

Instead, he said, the decision to take the Viet Nam case before the Security Council was to interest member nations in promoting an honorable peace.

Some member nations are working in that direction although debate in the Security Council has been adjourned for two and a half weeks, he added.

Asked for comment on a suggestion by Canada's external affairs minister, Paul Martin, that the Geneva Conference be reconvened on Viet Nam, Goldberg replied that the United States shares that view.

While the ambassador was meeting with the President at the White House, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was meeting with newsmen on Capitol Hill. The Arkansas Democrat said his committee, which has provided the battleground for the televised Viet Nam policy argument, will meet Wednesday to discuss whether to call in some China experts.

Fulbright said committee members agreed they would welcome testimony from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey after his return from his Asian trip. Humphrey has said he would not testify in a public session but has not ruled out a closed meeting.

Like Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Fulbright believes the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong, should be represented in any peace negotiations and should not be excluded from the postear Saigon government.

Thousands Reported In Huge Drive

Pushing To Cripple Red Operation 35 Miles From Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of American fighting men hunted the Viet Cong on two fronts today after B52 superfortresses bombed only a few miles ahead of them to crumble Communist defenses.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division found 38 Viet Cong dead and evidence of considerably more Red casualties after moving into a Communist triangle 10 to 12 miles south of Bong Son in the coastal plains 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

At times the eight-engine Air Force bombers from Guam dropped their 500- and 750-pound bombs only two to three miles in front of the advancing cavalrymen. U.S. spokesmen said the air cavalry killed another 20 Viet Cong Monday raising the division's total of Communist dead since it began operations in the ricefields on the South China Sea coast Jan. 25 to a total of 1,130.

In the jungles 35 miles northwest of Saigon, thousands of U.S. infantrymen began Operation Mastiff in an attempt to cripple Viet Cong forces operating on the capital's doorstep. Like the air cavalrymen, the 1st Infantry Division combed the thick forests after the area had been softened up by B52s.

Although the six or seven war-hardened Viet Cong regiments in the area, perhaps 8,400 men, offered only token resistance, American officers said the operation could erupt into one of the major actions of the war. Two guerrillas were reported killed as the infantrymen of the "Big Red One" poured into the area Monday by helicopter, armored car and truck.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes continued the air war against North Viet Nam, striking barracks near the old French fortress of Dien Bien Phu, storage areas, approaches to bridges and roads in the panhandle between Vinh and the 17th Parallel. U.S. officials said poor weather prevented a firm assessment of damage.

On the ground, the Viet Cong struck back by ambushing two South Vietnamese convoys in the past 24 hours on Route 1, the main north-south highway.

Van Dyne Tops Fire Chief Test

Swearing in of Alfred R. Van Dyne as chief of the fire department to succeed the late Charles Bryan will be held before the end of the week, Mayor George E. Willshaw said today.

The mayor said the ceremony will be held after he receives official notification from the Municipal Civil Service Commission that Van Dyne, a fireman for nearly 26 years and an assistant chief since Jan. 1, 1958, scored the highest grade in a promotional examination held Monday night.

BECAUSE TODAY is a legal holiday and City Hall offices are closed, the commission's certification probably won't be received until some time Wednesday.

Van Dyne topped Asst. Chiefs James Pelley and Gerald T. Goodballet in last night's test. The chief's post pays $540 a month.

Under state law, the man scoring the highest grade in a promotional test automatically receives the advancement. The mayor is the appointing authority for chiefs of the fire and police departments.

H. A. Tullis, commission chairman, said Pelley ranked second and Goodballet third, with the eligibility list established by the test remaining in effect for two years.

Tullis declined to reveal the scores, but said they may be announced later. It was learned, however, that Van Dyne's grade was approximately 14 points higher than Pelley's.

ALFRED VAN DYNE
Slated To Replace Bryan.

The source for material used in the examination, composed of multiple choice and true and false questions, was taken from the March 1962 reprint of the fire service training manual distributed by the trade and industrial education instructional material laboratory at Ohio State University.

The test itself required approximately 80 minutes for completion and grading required about 90 minutes, Tullis said.

The final grade was also based on seniority and efficien-

5 Calves Die As Fire Hits District Barn

SUMMITVILLE — Five calves and a quantity of hay were destroyed this morning when flames leveled a large barn at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. David Grimm along Dobson Rd., about three miles southeast of here.

Grimm was at work at the Peerless Clay Co. and his wife and two children were not at home when a neighbor spotted the blaze about 8 a.m.

Franklin Township and Salineville volunteer firemen kept the fire from destroying a nearby sheep barn and granary, but the heat ignited the tarpaper roof and scorched the side of the barn.

Carl Bach, whose farm is opposite Grimm's, saw the flames and notified Franklin firemen. Franklin sent one truck and Salineville dispatched a truck and pumper.

The two - story frame barn, which had a slate roof, was about 40 by 50 feet in size. In it were the calves, a lime spreader, 500 bales of hay and some sack feed, according to Grimm, who said the loss is partiallly covered by insurance.

An electrical short circuit may have caused the blaze, firemen said.

Hancock Delays Decision On Assessment At Track

A move by County Assessor Frank Pirraglia of Weirton to increase the real estate assessment of Waterford Park race track from $673,000 to $1,592,000 was challenged Monday during a closed meeting of the Hancock County commissioners at the courthouse in New Cumberland.

The track was represented by Frank A. Pietranton, Weirton attorney, and Howard Graham of Chester, track comptroller. The latter is the brother of William C. Graham of Chester, Grant District commissioner.

Sitting as a Board of Review and Equalization, the commissioners deliberated on the assessments compiled for fiscal 1965-66 by Pirraglia. Commissioners present were Graham, Jack Evans of New Cumberland and James Finley of Weirton, court president.

Also attending were Gus Dinaco of Weirton and W. R. Martin of Charleston, both representing the state tax office, and Floyd Tarr of Weirton, serving as legal adviser for the county court.

According to Pirraglia's figures, the race track was assessed for this year at $1,592,000 in Class III real estate; $75,000 in Class I personal property, and $43,600 in Class III personal property.

The clubhouse was burned to the ground in 1964 and the property assessment was set for 1964-65 at $673,000. However, Pirraglia pointed out, a new building was erected last year and he had set the new assessment figure at the standard rate of 50 per cent of the market value.

The county commissioners earlier had asked the state tax

New Violence Being Feared In Indonesia

Sukarno Ouster Of Army Strongman May Spark Trouble

SINGAPORE (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno's ouster of his army strongman, Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, could touch off new violence in Indonesia, diplomatic sources said today.

It could lead to "an explosion" between the regular army and some forces loyal to Sukarno, the diplomats said.

Sukarno announced in a broadcast Monday that he had fired Nasution as defense minister but did not clarify whether he had also removed him as armed forces chief.

The two titles had been combined. Sukarno said the joint post has been abolished.

Nasution led the army in crushing the Communist-led coup against Sukarno last Oct. 1 and has been responsible for the purge of the Indonesian Communist party since then.

On Viet Peace Effort

Soviet Rejects Wilson's Appeal

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain called on Soviet leaders today to help promote unconditional peace talks on Viet Nam before the war there spreads through Asia and possibly the world.

But Premier Alexei N. Kosygin brushed aside Wilson's appeal, demanding instead acceptance of North Viet Nam's terms for a peace parley. These have been rejected both by the Saigon and U.S. governments.

Kosygin insisted any settlement must fulfill the 1954 Geneva agreements.

Wilson and Kosygin spoke at a luncheon attended by most members of the Soviet Communist party's "collective leadership."

Where Wilson stressed points of British-Soviet accord on Viet Nam, Kosygin criticized the United States for bombing attacks on the North and its land against the Viet Cong in the South.

The luncheon was held after Wilson and Kosygin held their first talks.

A discussion of British-Soviet relations, with emphasis on Wilson's desire for greater Soviet purchases of British goods, was on the agenda for the opening session.

International matters, particularly the differing Moscow and London views on the deepening crisis in Asia, also were high on the work program.

As the exchanges began, Pravda, organ of the Soviet Communist party, published a blast against what it said are Western plans to arm West Germany with nuclear weapons.

A dispatch from the paper's Washington correspondent described a meeting of five North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense ministers in the U.S. capital last week as "another step along the road of Bonn's possession of nuclear weapons."

This is to be a major topic in the Kosygin-Wilson talks.

Pennsylvania Assembly Due Special Call

Scranton Expected To Give Legislature Notice Wednesday

HARRISBURG (AP)—Because of the holiday, Gov. Scranton will not issue a call today for a special session of the General Assembly as had been expected, his office announced.

"Most likely he will issue the call tomorrow," Jack L. Conmy Scranton's press secretary said.

It had been expected that the governor would call today for a special session to include a number of topics for legislative consideration. But the fact that it is George Washington's Birthday has caused a change in plans.

Republican and Democratic legislative leaders, meanwhile, scheduled a morning conference to resume discussions aimed at reaching accord on congressional reapportionment.

Scranton reportedly reached his decision to call the special session, probably to convene Monday, after a meeting Monday with the GOP leadership.

Sources said the chief executive was almost certain to include these topics in his proclamation:

A boost in manpower for the state police; community college construction by the State Public School Building Authority; a school district reorganization moratorium for those districts contesting a realignment in the courts; an interstate mine compact; and implementation legislation to permit retired judges to be recalled for temporary duty to ease court backlogs.

Other potential subjects, according to the sources, included highway beautification and bituminous mine subsidence.

Man, 23, Dies In Auto Crash

Toll Climbs To 12 In Beaver County

An Aliquippa man became Beaver County's 12th traffic victim of the year in a one-car accident on Monaca Road at Aliquippa Monday night at 9:20.

He was James Norman, 23, who was killed instantly when he was thrown from a car driven by Donald Freeman, 25, also of Aliquippa, after it left the road, struck a high embankment, and rolled on top of him.

Freeman and two other passengers, Charles Otey, 37, and Norman Compton, 42, escaped injury.

Dr. John Colavincinzo, Beaver County coroner, said Mr. Norman, who was a passenger in the front seat, died instantly of a crushed chest.

Aliquippa police said Freeman will be charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Resolution Cites Lack Of Funds

Wellsville Council Begins Official Stand On Route 7

A resolution declaring Wellsville's inability to financially participate in the proposed relocation of Route 7 through the city was placed on first reading by City Council during a special meeting Monday night. Two more readings are required for passage.

Council also gave first reading to another resolution objecting to the proposed abandonment of portions of existing Routes 7 and 39 in conjunction with the project, while a third resolution was tabled for further study.

Another special meeting will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Allen Baldwin, Council president, and Councilmen Jack Call and Glenn Mathess were absent last night. Councilman Nunzio Lombardozzi, president pro-tem, presided.

The first resolution simply states that the city is financially incapable of cooperating with the Ohio Highway Deeparment in the relocation within the community.

The other objects to the abandonment of parts of Routes 7 and 39 under present conditions and asks that such routes be resurfaced before such action is taken.

The third resolution would approve the center line for the project as proposed by the highway department.

Following a lengthy discussion, it was determined the primary objection is to the location of the center line east of the floodwall at Little Yellow Creek.

The objection centers around the belief that the area south of Wells Ave. should be preserved for commercial expansion of the

Humphrey In Seoul On Last Leg Of Trip

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Seoul tonight on the last leg of a nine-nation Asian tour as the South Korean government appeared ready to send more combat troops to Viet Nam.

Humphrey's 21-hour stopover was expected to seal a U.S.-South Korean agreement to increase substantially the 20,000-man Korean force in Viet Nam.

Hearing Set Tomorrow In Phillis Case

LISBON — Opening statements are scheduled to be heard Wednesday morning before Judge Joel H. Sharp in Common Pleas Court here on an appeal by Russell V. Phillis, ousted superintendent of the County Home, against a December decision by the Ohio Personnel Board of Review at Columbus.

Phillis was fired in early October on charges filed by two of the three commissioners. The former superintendent and his attorneys, G. William Brokaw of East Liverpool and Howard Cole of Lisbon, then appealed the case to the Personnl Board of Review, which upheld the decision of the commissioners.

Signing the order against Phillis were Commissioners R. Max Gard and Frank Wilson. James Boyd declined to affix his signature because of wording of the letter.

Robert Boyce is now serving as the home's superintendent.

George Washington

George Washington was luckier than Abraham Lincoln was to be when the fate of the nation came to rest in his hands.

His spiteful countrymen let the "Father of His Country" die a natural death. They did not assassinate him.

They did destroy everything they could—his faith in their ability to govern themselves with dignity, to be grateful to the fighting men who had driven out the British, to be fair with one another as they embarked on the uncharted voyage of popular sovereignty.

They plotted to oust him during the war he was fighting in their behalf—the war in which his life would be forfeited if he could not gain victory.

They sniped at him after he had reluctantly agreed to be their first president, though they had no one else who could stand between their warring factions and hold the country together while it was getting started.

Their legislators did everything they could to hamstring him as leader of the Continental Army and first president of the United States.

The states disregarded his stress on cooperation and continuously bickered with one another, at the expense of the collective strength they needed if they hoped to survive.

Only one thing made it possible for George Washington to carry on in the face of every adversity the contrary nature of his countrymen could throw in his way. The man had inexhaustible patience.

To accompany his patience, he had absolute faith in what he habitually referred to in his numerous letters as "Providence." He believed there was Divine intercession in the muddled affairs of man and Providence would keep them from destroying themselves.

When his life ended at 67, because medical men at the time could think of nothing better to do than bleed him to death, he had withstood more blows from his countrymen than any patriot should have been asked to bear in three lifetimes end to end.

It was to be the beginning of a practice sustained from then on. All public figures in America are subject to intemperate praise and abuse — praise until people get tired of them, abuse from then on.

George Washington was accused of bungling the war, of wanting to be king, of feathering his own nest, grinding his own ax, being inconsiderate of people less fortunate. He was chided for the quality of his education, the way he conducted his personal affairs, his point of view on the government, his attitude about foreign relations and the fact he was not born poor.

We honor two presidents above all others—both for the same reason. We must atone for the oldest American political custom—the urge to destroy the political leadership on which we rely for survival.

We're still doing it.

Napoleon Found Out

Every American has a constitutional duty to be his own expert on everything. That's what popular sovereignty means.

Those of us who never have heard a gun fired in anger even have to be experts in military strategy. We wouldn't even know how to stage a flanking motion in a game of hide-and-seek, but to play our role in a representative democracy we must pass judgment on the military minds waging wars in remote places like Southeast Asia.

The judgment currently being passed about the military minds in charge of operations n Viet Nam is not flattering. It is of the same stripe as the judgment passed on the way a famous U. S. general and his advisers let U. S. fighting forces get trapped in Korea by a Chinese army they had said did not exist.

We have no reason to stand aside in respect for the workings of the military mind, which has a way of pretending to know more than it could know if it were twice as smart as it ever is.

This is not peculiar to U. S. miltary minds. Name the nation and the record will show its militarists have betrayed the popular confidence they demanded as a matter of right.

We do not merely blame militarists for being incompetent. We mainly blame a situation that demands vastly more of militarists than they are capable of delivering.

The politicians are demanding that militarists do thus and so in Viet Nam, and the generals are going through the motions, knowing darned well they can't do what the politicians expect of them.

In Viet Nam they have wound up what was to have been a smashing effort to clobber the opposition, with results so indeterminate they don't know what to make of them. All they know is they shot the works without settling anything.

Assuming no militarist ever gets to be a top brass without knowing about all the classic goofs in militarism, we must take it for granted our generals and their advisers know why Napoleon Bonaparte was unable to beat the Russians. It was because the chief Russian strategist, Kutuzov, refused to fight a Napoleon's kind of war.

He skirmished, then ran away, so the Russians would be alive to fight another day. His idea was to let the climate and the relentless enmity of the Russian people wear down the invaders.

Napoleon couldn't make the Russians ask for peace. They burned down Moscow and stalled and frittered until poor Nappie was worn out. He was in a hurry to conquer the Russians because he was in an alien land and wanted to go home and get on with more important things.

But the Russians were in no hurry to be conquered. They had all the time in the world to let the invader fret and fume and use up his resources.

It's all there in Tolstoi's "War and Peace" and the possibilty our military strategists and the politicians guiding our destiny may not have read this historic work is enough to give Yankee Doodler the shakes.

A Proper Forum

Five church-sponsored meetings, beginning here March 2, represent the latest effort to take a searching look at community problems.

It will be surprising if any far-reaching conclusions emerge, but when clear-thinking, serious-minded groups join in the common interest benefits in some form are inevitable.

Dedicated people of various faiths are giving of their time and effort in the program.

It's far better to get together and sift problems in open, coordinated discusion than to sit back, mumble and scatter incoherent thoughts hither and yon without hope of productive results.

The church meetings will serve as a proper forum for an analysis of actions that could lead to a better community.

Call To Duty

Respect for firemen mounts as they continue to answer the call to duty.

Firefighters from the Chester and Newell departments are the latest to demonstrate their tenacity—this time in battling Sunday's blaze which destroyed the interior of an abandoned school building in Chester.

True, there were no human lives—except those of the fireman themselves—at stake. But there were the elements and the other hazards that go with a conflagration of that nature.

Fighting fire under ideal conditions—if there are such conditions — is dangerous enough. When is is bitter cold, as Sunday, conditions become even more demanding.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz

As the symbolic heroes of World War II pass from the scene, none will cast a longer shadow than Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded the great U.S. naval campaign in the Pacific in World War II.

His symbolic role was far greater than that of the generals of the Army and the Air Corps because the disgrace at Pearl Harbor had put the U.S. navy at a disadvantage in the war with Japan. Victory would have to be primarily a Navy project, and the Navy's gross blunder at Pearl Harbor had imperiled the entire U.S. war effort in the Pacific.

This was the problem that challenged Admiral Nimitz. This was the handicap he and his officers and the millions of men they commanded had to surmount, to redeem the U.S. Navy and demonstrate the military competence of the United States. The politicians in Washington had put them in a hole, and they had to rescue the nation, themselves and the politicians.

It was a great performance — a turning point in history. It destroyed Japan's plot to supplant U.S. sea power in the Pacific. It released millions of U.S. troops to rescue the European hostages from German land power. It generated a surge of fervent patriotim that pushed the war effort to a quick and successful conclusion, and Adm. Nimitz was its proper and eminently satisfactory symbol.

Rustle Of Spring

By Truman Twill

No one is more senstitively attuned to the rustle of spring than I am. I can hear it, see it, smell it and feel it. It's on the way.

You can feel spring when the sun breaks through the cloud cover at midday. It has warmth. It makes the steam rise in clouds from rooftops. It is energizing daffodils, crocuses, tulips and grape hyacinths in their frozen beds.

Willows are coloring at the tips, and in the sugar groves sap is rising in those gnarled maples. Skunk cabbages are waiting in the marsh muck for the right instant to unfurl and send up their vernal spikes. The next night frogs will open their opera season.

In the early morning, woodpeckers are boring into tree bark for grubs. In the sheepfolds there is the plaintive cry of lambs hunting their mothers.

Before long there will be calves and colts in the meadows and kids flying kites. Little girls will take falls on roller skates and little boys will fly kites and pot marbles.

Housewives will give in to their timeless urge to clean old bones and dried pelts out of the family cave and the heady odor of cleaning compounds and furniture polish will hover over the land like a halo of sanitation.

Baseball players are packing their old mitts and new contracts and heading for training camps. In sheltered nooks where the wind is shut out and the mildness is held in, the earth is exuding its primordial fragrance.

Inquisitive earthworms are meandering upward when rain saturates the soil. Old dogs are lumbering to hilltops to sniff the prevailing wind. They know spring is on the way. They are wise. So do old men watching clocks in rest homes. They are wise, too.

Lilac bud are swelling and twigs on cinnamon bushes are limber. Unpruned tendrils on the multifloras are bright green. There is a premonition of canary-yellow ducklings and downy chicks, of cardinals whistling love calls from television masts, or tops going down on convertibles.

The rustle of spring is everywhere. It's tangible. Dandelions are getting ready to speckle the landscape with gold. Forget-me-nots are coming through the woods carpet.

A La Mode!

Union Stalls Cargo To Viet Nam

By Victor Riesel

Early in January, U.S. stratgists were alerted to rush rice as well as rifles; water pipe as well as war planes to the fighting front.

Heavy tonnage of rice was needed to smash a brutal black market in Viet Nam. Pipe, miles and miles of it, is needed for meshing into new docks now transforming glistening beaches into swift transport depots.

Victor Riesel

The Military Sea Transportation Service (MSTS) quickly got to the owners of a brand new automated ship just about to go down the ways at the Avondale yards in Louisiana. She is the SS Elizabeth Lykes, a trim, swift, $12 million, 13,700-ton craft.

Just the thing to rush the rice to offset Viet Cong propaganda and to speed the pipe so the docks would be ready to berth and turn around the idling 80 or more freighters waiting to be unloaded.

Without pipe, no docks. No docks, no unloading. No unloading, no supplies, from tied-up ships and crews.

THE RICE WAS NEARBY at New Orleans and Lake Charles. The pipe cargo was handy, too. Since the ship was in shape to sail, it was arranged to load her with the food, equipment and other military tonnage — about 1,812 tons in all. And "essential military cargo" at that according to the Pentagon the MSTS, Labor Secretary Wirtz and the administration for International Development (AID).

The ship did not load on Feb. 5. Nor for weeks afterwards. There were no engineers for the automatic vessels though the Lykes company had trained them. They just did not show. The union, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. (MEBA), did not permit them.

No official strike — an un-strike, sort of. Just no engineers showed up. So no crew was summoned from the National Maritime Union (NMU) hiring hall.

Wire went out from the Labor Department. There were conferences. All were filled with talk of "essential" cargo. But still no engineers. Jesse Calhoon, MEBA president, was unavailable despite days of telephoning by this newsman.

So the MSTS got its pipe and other "essential military cargo" aboard other ships. There is no recent report on what happened to AID's rice.

ONE SPOKESMAN for the union, when finally reached, told this columnist that there never had been any military cargo offered for the ship. A company spokesman — and government officials — averred that the pipe was bound for a Manila port to be transshipped quickly to Viet Nam's shoreline. Still other vital cargo was bound for South Korea.

Why no union engineers? The conflict pivoted around the number of engineers required to run this new ship. The company wanted five —the same as the number manning a similar automated sister ship, the S.S. Louise Lykes. The union, in effect, said six or nothing.

It wanted a third engineer. The company reported that two such officers would be sufficient.

In the trade five engineers constitute an automatic ship's full complement. Six would, in effect, make it the equivalent of a non-automatic. This would complicate matters.

Automatic ships carry an unlicensed crew of 23 men. Non-automatic freighters require another four or five seamen. Thus, if another engineer was taken on, another batch of NMU men would have to be put aboard. That's the rule.

MEBA INSISTED on the sixth engineer. This was not just a matter of jobs. It's the "long-run" view. What happens after the long-run way and all new ships are automated — that's the question.

MEBA certainly was looking ahead. At the moment there just are not enough marine engineers to man all the craft which must go to the Far East. Fact is the MEBA people have been saying that vital cargo is being stalled because there are insufficient engineers.

So the company said, let the S.S. Elizabeth Lykes sail with five engineers on just this one run — without prejudice or precedent and we'll argue later.

Furthermore, after last year's strike, MEBA agreed to President Johnson's proposal that there would be no stoppage over manning tables. A two-man committee of Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz and AFL-CIO President George Meany was appointed to settle such disputes. There even is a subcommittee.

BUT THE UNION, in effect, said no engineers and added quizotically, unless the company turns the S.S. Elizabeth Lykes over to the government. The shipping lines' president, Frank Nemac, pointed out that the union was merely maneuvering, knowing full well that Lykes already had turned 14 vessels over to MSTS.

Furthermore, this would give the union the right to tell the company what to do with its property. Still furthermore, the government has not asked for the ship. And so it went for weeks.

Meanwhile a lot of kids have been fighting a mighty tough war a long way from Main Street.

Philanthropism

By David Lawrence

Sloan Typified Capitalism

In the realm of Communism — whether in the Soviet Union or Red China or in other parts of the world — the constant cry is that capitalism is selfish and inhumane and that social welfare can be achieved in each country only by giving arbitrary power to a small group of men.

David Lawrence

Today the people of the Communist world could learn a lesson if they read the obituaries being printed about the life of Alfred P. Sloan Jr., who died last Thursday at the age of 90. Here was a man who amassed a fortune of more than $300 million, but gave virtually all of it away for the cause of human welfare.

There have been others like Mr. Sloan in American history, but the stories of their altruism are too often lost in the maze of other happenings in a busy world.

Mr. Sloan was one of the ablest businessmen this country has produced. Men engaged in "big business" are sometimes pictured as heartless or as materialistic to the extreme. It may come as a surprise to many of the younger generation who lean toward the Communist philosophy to discover that there are far more philanthropists among the successful businessmen of American than there are selfish human beings.

Mr. Sloan's case is a significant example of how money is made and how it can be spent.

IT WAS HIS GENIUS in building up General Motors to one of the largest businesses in the world that made it possible not only for him, but for others who invested in that enterprise, to earn large sums as the stock of the company appreciated steadily in value over the years.

In 1937 Mr. Sloan created the Alfred P. Sloan foundation, with an initial grant of $10 million, to help studies in science and economics and broadened later to aid in medical care and research, particularly in cancer. He said at the time he gave away the $10 million:

"Having been connected with industry during my entire life, it seems eminently proper that I should turn back, in part, the proceeds of that activity with the hope of promoting a broader as well as a better understanding of the economic principles and national policies which have characterized American enterprise down through the years."

Mr. Sloan was a modest man. He rarely made public speeches or talked about his ventures into the field of philanthropy. He was deeply concerned with the functioning of the free-enterprise system and with the right of every individual to improve his lot by his own efforts in co-operation with others.

MR. SLOAN was a great executive. He once said:

"I never give orders. I sell my ideas to my associates if I can. I accept their judgment if they convince me, as they frequently do, that I am wrong. I prefer to appeal to the intelligence of a man rather than attempt to exercise authority over him. . . .

"Test the facts. Recognize the equities of all concerned. Realize the necessity of doing a better job every day. Keep an open mind and work hard. The last is most important of all. There is no short cut."

Under the American system of free enterprise, individual initiative is encouraged. The same cannot be said of the Communist system. Indeed, the American standard of living is the highest in the world, and so are its philanthrophies.

Private contributions for charitable programs of various kinds in the United States totaled $10.6 billion in 1964. No individual really is able to accumulate enough to give any substantial part of that big sum.

THE LARGE GIVERS in every city are usually businessmen. Many of Mr. Sloan's associates, for instance, have followed his example and have donated much of their earnings to philanthropic projects.

Mr. Sloan's life emphasizes the great advantages of the American system of individual freedom, as contrasted with the oppressive and truly selfish system of Communism by which a few men achieve power and impose their will on hundreds of millions of their countrymen.

There are many unsung heroes in the commercial world but the impact of their "re-distribution of wealth" has certainly been felt in America by universities and colleges, churches, hospitals and other institutions supported by philanthrophy.

Council OK's Liability Plan For Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — An extension of liability insurance coverage to include streets, sidewalks, electric lights, sewage disposal and the water system was authorized by Council at a meeting Monday night.

The annual premium for the coverage will be $3,569, an increase of $2,025 from the previous premium which did not cover as much liability.

The move is designed to meet claims for injuries from people hurt on the streets and elsewhere, Solicitor Jack H. Coehen said.

The coverage is provided by the Don Archibald Insurance Agency. A survey made by his insurance firm revealed the areas not covered.

Council gave tentative approval to the purchase of a new street department truck to cost an estimated $4,500. The money would include $2,000 from the street fund and $2,500 from the parking meter fund.

Beaver Senator Named To Group In War On 'Dust'

Sen. Ernest P. Kline of Beaver Falls and Sen. William Z. Scott of Carbon County have been appointed to the Conference on Pneumoconiosis by Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Kline says the special committee is an outgrowth of the statewide convention on occupational diseases held in December 1964 at Harrisburg. At that meeting, experts from every field concerned with dust disease in Pennsylvania presented papers and took part in panel discussions.

Pneumoconiosis is a broad term given to chest diseases related to dust. The seriousness of the disease is pointed out in the 1966 fiscal budget which appropriated $28 million to meet benefits to workers disabled by occupational diseases.

"The Conference on Pneumoconiosis" will work in close cooperation with the State Department of Health," Kline said.

"An organization meeting is planned soon by the governor to permit the committee to begin work," he explained.

Man Injured As Door Falls

A 43-year-old St. Clair Township man was injured about the face and head late Monday afternoon when pinned underneath a 20-x-14-foot door which fell at a Klondyke plant, police reported.

Edward Bowyer of Westfield was listed in "satisfactory" condition today at Osteopathic Hospital.

X-rays disclosed a possible fracture of the lumbar vertebrae and a possible fracture of the nose.

Police said Bowyer was hurt about 4:30 while at work at the S. H. Bell Co. warehouse on Michigan Ave. Patrolman W. F. Copestick investigated.

Bowyer told the officer he was at work at the warehouse when the door fell, striking him on the head and face. He said the impact knocked him to a sitting position and then onto his back.

Police were notified by a fellow worker, Robert Freed of E. 2nd St. Freed said he and Bowyer were working on the door, but had not completed the task when they secured and chained it for the day. He said Bowyer was picking up tools when the door fell and struck him, pinning him underneath.

Freed raised the door, freed Bowyer and then summoned police. Officers called an ambulance to remove Bowyer to the hospital.

Another East Liverpool man was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with a possible skull injury suffered when he apparently fell on the sidewalk at W. 6th and Market Sts. about 5:25 p. m. yesterday.

John William Foreman Jr., 54, of W. 8th St. was admitted to the hospital after police received a report of an injured man lying on the sidewalk. Patrolman L. E. Richard, who investigated, said Foreman did not know what caused him to fall.

Mrs. Wilson Pushes On In Pigeon 'War'

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson, Council's only woman member, pushed ahead Monday night with her efforts to persuade her fellow members to declare war on the pigeons that roost on East Liverpool homes and business places.

Mrs. Wilson presented copies of Cincinnati and Indianapolis ordinances which, she said, permit authorized city employes to destroy the pigeons with gunfire. She said she also has a copy of an ambiguous Canton ordinance which declares pigeons "a public nuisance" and provided for their eradication, without explaining what methods will be used.

Mrs. Wilson said she has written to Canton officials in attempt to learn how the pigeon problem is dealt with there, but she said she has received no reply.

A city ordinance calling for destroying the pigeons would only be invoked on private property at the request of the owner, she said.

"Therefore, the people who love them can continue to harbor them and clean up the dirt," she said. She said the average life span of a pigeon is 10 years and it leaves an estimated 100 off-spring "so there is no real danger of them becoming extinct."

Mrs. Wilson also cited controls tried in other communities but said they were not effective. One city tried "birth control pills" with the thought that the pigeon population gradually would disappear, she said. another strung electric wires in their roosting places and one town used high - pressure water hoses to knock them off their roosts, she said.

Still another community tried shining blinding lights on the pigeon roosts with the thought the pigeons would become sleepless and leave town, but they merely sheltered themselves from the lights, Mrs. Wilson said.

Jack Bonner, acting city health commissioner, said the Health Department has been working on a plan under which pigeon fanciers would trap the birds in the upper floors of downtown buildings, then possibly turn them over to the Humane Society for disposal.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they" said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Council Gets Report

Fire Call System To Cost $58,000

A modern system of fire alarm call boxes will cost an estimated $58,000, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey told Council Monday night.

Vodrey supplied the estimate as part of a report submitted following a survey by the Bliss-Gamewell Corp. of Pittsburgh. The company, successor to the firm which installed the present system about 1913, was asked to make a study and recommendations.

THE DIRECTOR said the firm discovered that only three of the present 45 call boxes are functioning. It recommended a new system of 86 boxes, of which 83 would be new, he added. It would involve stringing 175,000 feet of wire.

In the present system, all the points on one circuit are affected if one box is out of order, Vodrey said. In the new Gamewell proposal, the boxes would operate independently, so that alarms could be received from all except the one that went out of service, he said.

The $58,000 figure is the company's estimate, but it is subject to revision if competitive bids are received, the director said. He asked Council to consider the need for a new system "for the safety of the city and to prevent a possible boost in insurance rates."

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson said she has received a letter from the Ohio Inspection Bureau in which it said call boxes are needed only in "high value areas" and at institutions such as hospitals and rest homes.

Vodrey said he also received a proposal from the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which said it would lease a system of 54 call boxes to the city at a monthly charge of $1,000.

His suggestions were referred to the finance committee for study.

VODREY ALSO reported that the city's mechanical street sweeper is broken down and asked Council to consider whether it should be repaired or replaced with a new machine. A mechanic examined the machine last Thursday and submitted a three-page list of parts and service needed for repair, he said.

The cost would total $3,500 to $5,000, plus transportation to the factory at Cleveland, Vodrey said. A new sweeper would cost $10,000 to $11,000, but it would be about three months before it could be delivered, even if the enabling legislation was passed immediately, the director said.

Vodrey also reported that a mutual aid fire agreement with Wellsville is due for renewal. In effect for years, it comes up for renewal each three years, he said. The director also asked Council to consider the need for purchase of a new police cruiser.

Councilman Robert W. Sample, chairman of the finance committee, said his committee will confer with Vodrey Wednesday night on the question of the sweeper and the cruiser purchase.

Councilman Floyd Murray asked Mayor George E. Willshaw to consider reactivating the defunct City Traffic Commission. He said the commission might be able to solve some of the city's traffic problems.

Mrs. Wilson declared Council should assist the director in helping locate a building that could be rented or bought to house some of the city's rolling stock. She said the equipment now "sits out day and night at the mercy of the elements." Her motion was approved.

COUNCILMAN Harold Maylone said he learned a new carry-out beer permit was issued by the State Liquor Control Department to a neighborhood store "directly across the street from a school." He said he was under the impression the state board checked with Council before granting such permits to learn if there were any objections.

"I would like to know if anyone can tell me how we can do anything about this," Maylone said.

Sample suggested he check with Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper.

Council approved a motion by Councilman Norman Bucher to allow Mrs. Edna Sweeney, assistant clerk, to purchase a new filing cabinet for storage of records.

Councilman Frank Duffy asked if any action had been taken on a suggestion he made Feb. 7 for installation of a gas line so that heat could be provided for the city dog pound in a converted garage at the sewage plant. Sample said he believed the installation was a prerogative of the director, but he since has learned it should be handled by the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water and sewage departments. He said he will check with the utilities board soon.

Kenneth McCarty, a representative of the city employes union, asked why some salaried employes were not included in legislation granting longevity pay. President Ernest Lowe said the question has been referred to the finance committee and an answer should be ready by March 7.

Council met in a caucus session with representatives of the State Health Board to consider a long-standing proposal for a merger of the city and county health districts. They included Dr. T. A. Gardner, chief of local services, and James Warfield, both of Columbus. Harry Stockdale represented the county board.

The meeting opened with invocation by the Rev. John Stilts of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church.

Claim Payments Voted In Council

Council gave approval Monday night to resolutions authorizing the payment of three claims totaling $660 against the city.

The claimants and the amounts they will be paid are:

Kenneth R. Kibler of 2409 St. Clair Ave., $455.50 for damage to his parked auto on Jan. 14 when it was struck by a city police cruiser.

Milton J. and Ruth A. Kittle of 1038 Edgewood Ave., $165.50 for damages to their car and injuries to Mrs. Kittle on Dec. 10 when their auto was struck from the rear by an incinerator department truck at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts.

Bruce Kelly of 3242 St. Clair Ave., $40.33 as a result of damage to his property resulting from a stoppage in a sanitary sewer for which he claimed the city was responsible.

Three other bills against the city received last night were referred to the claims committee for investigation.

Jay C. Mason of 145 W. 4th St. asked $8.93 for an oil filter on his car which he said was damaged last Wednesday when his car hit a bump and some loose bricks on E. 4th St.

John Blankenship of Florence St. asked $36.64, alleging that his auto hit a hole in Dresden Ave. pavement Feb. 15, breaking a rear spring and damaging the axle.

The Borad of Public Utilities sent Council a letter in which it said it has investigated the claim of William Lister of 826 Riverview St., who filed a claim for $73 against the sewage department. The board suggested the city should pay half of Lister's claim, or $36.50.

In addition, James Lowe, chairman of the claims committee, reported approval of a bill filed by James Ferguson of Garfield St., who alleged his car was hit by a fire truck. Two more claims still are under investigation, Lowe said.

George Washington

George Washington was luckier than Abraham Lincoln was to be when the fate of the nation came to rest in his hands.

His spiteful countrymen let the "Father of His Country" die a natural death. They did not assassinate him.

They did destroy everything they could—his faith in their ability to govern themselves with dignity, to be grateful to the fighting men who had driven out the British, to be fair with one another as they embarked on the uncharted voyage of popular sovereignty.

They plotted to oust him during the war he was fighting in their behalf—the war in which his life would be forfeited if he could not gain victory.

They sniped at him after he had reluctantly agreed to be their first president, though they had no one else who could stand between their warring factions and hold the country together while it was getting started.

Their legislators did everything they could to hamstring him as leader of the Continental Army and first president of the United States.

The states disregarded his stress on cooperation and continuously bickered with one another, at the expense of the collective strength they needed if they hoped to survive.

Only one thing made it possible for George Washington to carry on in the face of every adversity the contrary nature of his countrymen could throw in his way. The man had inexhaustible patience.

To accompany his patience, he had absolute faith in what he habitually referred to in his numerous letters as "Providence." He believed there was Divine intercession in the muddled affairs of man and Providence would keep them from destroying themselves.

When his life ended at 67, because medical men at the time could think of nothing better to do than bleed him to death, he had withstood more blows from his countrymen than any patriot should have been asked to bear in three lifetimes end to end.

It was to be the beginning of a practice sustained from then on. All public figures in America are subject to intemperate praise and abuse—praise until people get tired of them, abuse from then on.

George Washington was accused of bungling the war, of wanting to be king, of feathering his own nest, grinding his own ax, being inconsiderate of people less fortunate. He was chided for the quality of his education, the way he conducted his personal affairs, his point of view on the government, his attitude about foreign relations and the fact he was not born poor.

We honor two presidents above all others—both for the same reason. We must atone for the oldest American political custom—the urge to destroy the political leadership on which we rely for survival.

We're still doing it.

Napoleon Found Out

Every American has a constitutional duty to be his own expert on everything. That's what popular sovereignty means.

Those of us who never have heard a gun fired in anger even have to be experts in military strategy. We wouldn't even know how to stage a flanking motion in a game of hide-and-seek, but to play our role in a representative democracy we must pass judgment on the military minds waging wars in remote places like Southeast Asia.

The judgment currently being passed about the military minds in charge of operations n Viet Nam is not flattering. It is of the same stripe as the judgment passed on the way a famous U. S. general and his advisers let U. S. fighting forces get trapped in Korea by a Chinese army they had said did not exist.

We have no reason to stand aside in respect for the workings of the military mind, which has a way of pretending to know more than it could know if it were twice as smart as it ever is.

This is not peculiar to U. S. military minds. Name the nation and the record will show its militarists have betrayed the popular confidence they demanded as a matter of right.

We do not merely blame militarists for being incompetent. We mainly blame a situation that demands vastly more of militarists than they are capable of delivering.

The politicians are demanding that militarists do thus and so in Viet Nam, and the generals are going through the motions, knowing darned well they can't do what the politicians expect of them.

In Viet Nam they have wound up what was to have been a smashing effort to clobber the opposition, with results so indeterminate they don't know what to make of them. All they know is they shot the works without settling anything.

Assuming no militarist ever gets to be a top brass without knowing about all the classic goofs in militarism, we must take it for granted our generals and their advisers know why Napoleon Bonaparte was unable to beat the Russians. It was because the chief Russian strategist, Kutuzov, refused to fight a Napoleon's kind of war.

He skirmished, then ran away, so the Russians would be alive to fight another day. His idea was to let the climate and the relentless enmity of the Russian people wear down the invaders.

Napoleon couldn't make the Russians ask for peace. They burned down Moscow and stalled and frittered until poor Nappie was worn out. He was in a hurry to conquer the Russians because he was in an alien land and wanted to go home and get on with more important things.

But the Russians were in no hurry to be conquered. They had all the time in the world to let the invader fret and fume and use up his resources.

It's all there in Tolstoi's "War and Peace" and the possibility our military strategists and the politicians guiding our destiny may not have read this historic work is enough to give Yankee Doodler the shakes.

A Proper Forum

Five church-sponsored meetings, beginning here March 2, represent the latest effort to take a searching look at community problems.

It will be surprising if any far-reaching conclusions emerge, but when clear-thinking, serious-minded groups join in the common interest benefits in some form are inevitable.

Dedicated people of various faiths are giving of their time and effort in the program.

It's far better to get together and sift problems in open, coordinated discusion than to sit back, mumble and scatter incoherent thoughts hither and yon without hope of productive results.

The church meetings will serve as a proper forum for an analysis of actions that could lead to a better community.

Call To Duty

Respect for firemen mounts as they continue to answer the call to duty.

Firefighters from the Chester and Newell departments are the latest to demonstrate their tenacity—this time in battling Sunday's blaze which destroyed the interior of an abandoned school building in Chester.

True, there were no human lives—except those of the fireman themselves—at stake. But there were the elements and the other hazards that go with a conflagration of that nature.

Fighting fire under ideal conditions—if there are such conditions — is dangerous enough. When is is bitter cold, as Sunday, conditions become even more demanding.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz

As the symbolic heroes of World War II pass from the scene, none will cast a longer shadow than Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded the great U.S. naval campaign in the Pacific in World War II.

His symbolic role was far greater than that of the generals of the Army and the Air Corps because the disgrace at Pearl Harbor had put the U.S. navy at a disadvantage in the war with Japan. Victory would have to be primarily a Navy project, and the Navy's gross blunder at Pearl Harbor had imperiled the entire U.S. war effort in the Pacific.

This was the problem that challenged Admiral Nimitz. This was the handicap he and his officers and the millions of men they commanded had to surmount, to redeem the U.S. Navy and demonstrate the military competence of the United States. The politicians in Washington had put them in a hole, and they had to rescue the nation, themselves and the politicians.

It was a great performance — a turning point in history. It destroyed Japan's plot to supplant U.S. sea power in the Pacific. It released millions of U.S. troops to rescue the European hostages from German land power. It generated a surge of fervent patriotim that pushed the war effort to a quick and successful conclusion, and Adm. Nimitz was its proper and eminently satisfactory symbol.

Rustle Of Spring

By Truman Twill

No one is more senstitvely attuned to the rustle of spring than I am. I can hear it, see it, smell it and feel it. It's on the way.

You can feel spring when the sun breaks through the cloud cover at midday. It has warmth. It makes the steam rise in clouds from rooftops. It is energizing daffodils, crocuses, tulips and grape hyacinths in their frozen beds.

Willows are coloring at the tips, and in the sugar groves sap is rising in those gnarled maples. Skunk cabbages are watting in the marsh muck for the right instant to unfurl and send up their vernal spikes. The next night frogs will open their opera season.

In the early morning, woodpeckers are boring into tree bark for grubs. In the sheepfolds there is the plaintive cry of lambs hunting their mothers.

Before long there will be calves and colts in the meadows and kids flying kites. Little girls will take falls on roller skates and little boys will fly kites and pot marbles.

Housewives will give in to their timeless urge to clean old bones and dried pelts out of the family cave and the heady odor of cleaning compounds and furniture polish will hover over the land like a halo of sanitation.

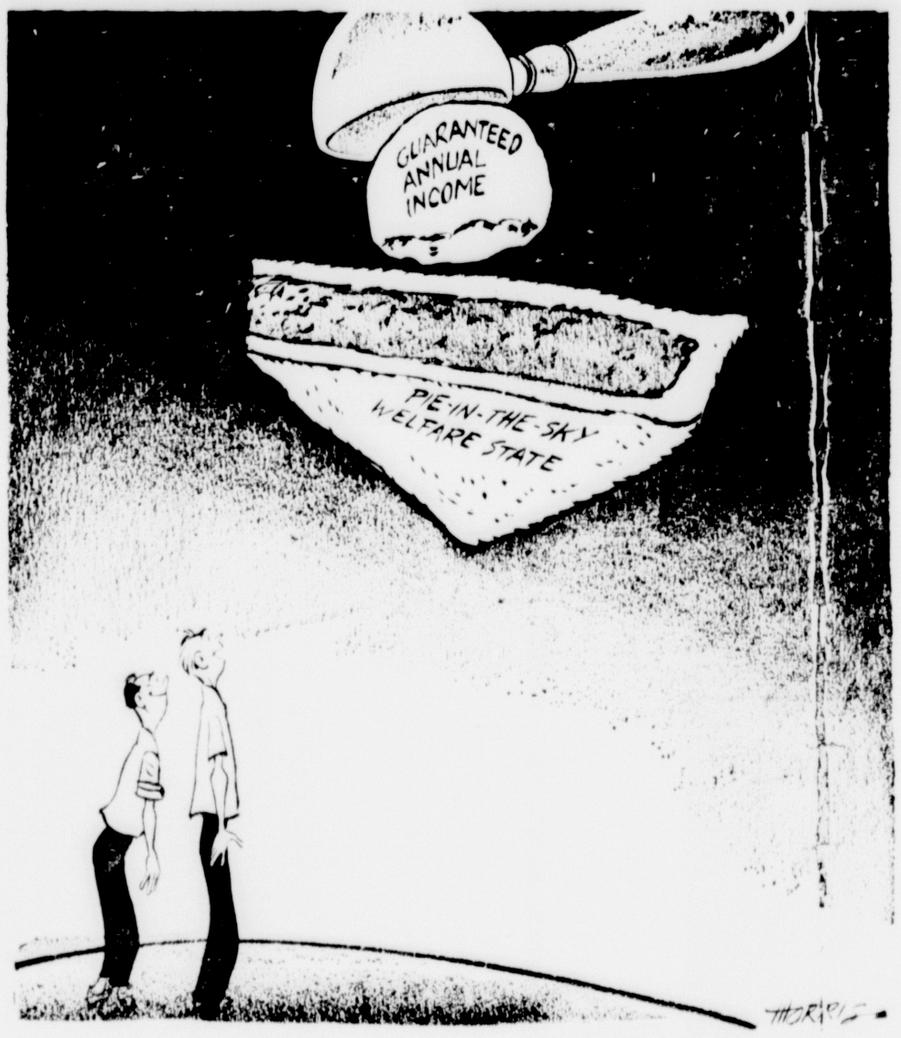
Baseball players are packing their old mitts and new contracts and heading for training camps. In sheltered nooks where the wind is shut out and the mildness is held in, the earth is exuding its primordial fragrance.

Inquisitive earthworms are meandering upward when rain saturates the soil. Old dogs are lumbering to hilltops to sniff the prevailing wind. They know spring is on the way. They are wise. So do old men watching clocks in rest homes. They are wise, too.

Lilac bud are swelling and twigs on cinnamon bushes are limber. Unpruned tendrils on the multifloras are bright green. There is a premonition of canary-yellow ducklings and downy chicks, of cardinals whistling love calls from television masts, or tops going down on convertibles.

The rustle of spring is everywhere. It's tangible. Dandelions are getting ready to speckle the landscape with gold. Forget-me-nots are coming through the woods carpet.

A La Mode!



Union Stalls Cargo To Viet Nam

By Victor Riesel

Early in January, U.S. stratgists were alerted to rush rice as well as rifles; water pipe as well as war planes to the fighting front.

Heavy tonnage of rice was needed to smash a brutal black market in Viet Nam. Pipe, miles and miles of it, is needed for meshing into new docks now transforming glistening beaches into swift transport depots.

Victor Riesel

The Military Sea Transportation Service (MSTS) quickly got to the owners of a brand new automated ship just about to go down the ways at the Avondale yards in Louisiana. She is the SS Elizabeth Lykes, a trim, swift, $12 million, 13,700-ton craft.

Just the thing to rush the rice to offset Viet Cong propaganda and to speed the pipe so the docks would be ready to berth and turn around the idling 80 or more freighters waiting to be unloaded.

Without pipe, no docks. No docks, no unloading. No unloading, no supplies, from tied-up ships and crews.

THE RICE WAS NEARBY at New Orleans and Lake Charles. The pipe cargo was handy, too. Since the ship was in shape to sail, it was arranged to load her with the food, equipment and other military tonnage — about 1,812 tons in all. And "essential military cargo" at that according to the Pentagon the MSTS, Labor Secretary Wirtz and the administration for International Development (AID).

The ship did not load on Feb. 5. Nor for weeks afterwards. There were no engineers for the automatic vessels though the Lykes company had trained them. They just did not show. The union, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. (MEBA), did not permit them.

No official strike — an un-strike, sort of. Just no engineers showed up. So no crew was summoned from the National Maritime Union (NMU) hiring hall.

Wire went out from the Labor Department. There were conferences. All were filled with talk of "essential" cargo. But still no engineers. Jesse Calhoon, MEBA president, was unavailable despite days of telephoning by this newsman.

So the MSTS got its pipe and other "essential military cargo" aboard other ships. There is no recent report on what happened to AID's rice.

ONE SPOKESMAN for the union, when finally reached, told this columnist that there never had been any military cargo offered for the ship. A company spokesman — and government officials — averred that the pipe was bound for a Manila port to be transshipped quickly to Viet Nam's shoreline. Still other vital cargo was bound for South Korea.

Why no union engineers? The conflict pivoted around the number of engineers required to run this new ship. The company wanted five—the same as the number manning a similar automated sister ship, the S.S. Louise Lykes. The union, in effect, said six or nothing.

It wanted a third engineer. The company reported that two such officers would be sufficient.

In the trade five engineers constitute an automatic ship's full complement. Six would, in effect, make it the equivalent of a non-automatic. This would complicate matters.

Automatic ships carry an unlicensed crew of 23 men. Non-automatic freighters require another four or five seamen. Thus, if another engineer was taken on, another batch of NMU men would have to be put aboard. That's the rule.

MEBA INSISTED on the sixth engineer. This was not just a matter of jobs. It's the "long-run" view. What happens after the long-run way and all new ships are automated — that's the question.

MEBA certainly was looking ahead. At the moment there just are not enough marine engineers to man all the craft which must go to the Far East. Fact is the MEBA people have been saying that vital cargo is being stalled because there are insufficient engineers.

So the company said, let the S.S. Elizabeth Lykes sail with five engineers on just this one run — without prejudice or precedent and we'll argue later.

Furthermore, after last year's strike, MEBA agreed to President Johnson's proposal that there would be no stoppage over manning tables. A two-man committee of Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz and AFL-CIO President George Meany was appointed to settle such disputes. There even is a subcommittee.

BUT THE UNION, in effect, said no engineers and added quizotically, unless the company turns the S.S. Elizabeth Lykes over to the government. The shipping lines' president, Frank Nemac, pointed out that the union was merely maneuvering, knowing full well that Lykes already had turned 14 vessels over to MSTS.

Furthermore, this would give the union the right to tell the company what to do with its property. Still furthermore, the government has not asked for the ship. And so it went for weeks.

Meanwhile a lot of kids have been fighting a mighty tough war a long way from Main Street.

Philanthropism

By David Lawrence

Sloan Typified Capitalism

In the realm of Communism — whether in the Soviet Union or Red China or in other parts of the world — the constant cry is that capitalism is selfish and inhumane and that social welfare can be achieved in each country only by giving arbitrary power to a small group of men.

David Lawrence

Today the people of the Communist world could learn a lesson if they read the obituaries being printed about the life of Alfred P. Sloan Jr., who died last Thursday at the age of 90. Here was a man who amassed a fortune of more than $300 million, but gave virtually all of it away for the cause of human welfare.

There have been others like Mr. Sloan in American history, but the stories of their altruism are too often lost in the maze of other happenings in a busy world.

Mr. Sloan was one of the ablest businessmen this country has produced. Men engaged in "big business" are sometimes pictured as heartless or as materialistic to the extreme. It may come as a surprise to many of the younger generation who lean toward the Communist philosophy to discover that there are far more philanthropists among the successful businessmen of American than there are selfish human beings.

Mr. Sloan's case is a significant example of how money is made and how it can be spent.

IT WAS HIS GENIUS in building up General Motors to one of the largest businesses in the world that made it possible not only for him, but for others who invested in that enterprise, to earn large sums as the stock of the company appreciated steadily in value over the years.

In 1937 Mr. Sloan created the Alfred P. Sloan foundation, with an initial grant of $10 million, to help studies in science and economics and broadened later to aid in medical care and research, particularly in cancer. He said at the time he gave away the $10 million:

"Having been connected with industry during my entire life, it seems eminently proper that I should turn back, in part, the proceeds of that activity with the hope of promoting a broader as well as a better understanding of the economic principles and national policies which have characterized American enterprise down through the years."

Mr. Sloan was a modest man. He rarely made public speeches or talked about his ventures into the field of philanthropy. He was deeply concerned with the functioning of the free-enterprise system and with the right of every individual to improve his lot by his own efforts in co-operation with others.

MR. SLOAN was a great executive. He once said:

"I never give orders. I sell my ideas to my associates if I can. I accept their judgment if they convince me, as they frequently do, that I am wrong. I prefer to appeal to the intelligence of a man rather than attempt to exercise authority over him.

"Test the facts. Recognize the equities of all concerned. Realize the necessity of doing a better job every day. Keep an open mind and work hard. The last is most important of all. There is no short cut."

Under the American system of free enterprise, individual initiative is encouraged. The same cannot be said of the Communist system. Indeed, the American standard of living is the highest in the world, and so are its philanthrophies.

Private contributions for charitable programs of various kinds in the United States totaled $10.6 billion in 1964. No individual really is able to accumulate enough to give any substantial part of that big sum.

THE LARGE GIVERS in every city are usually businessmen. Many of Mr. Sloan's associates, for instance, have followed his example and have donated much of their earnings to philanthropic projects.

Mr. Sloan's life emphasizes the great advantages of the American system of individual freedom, as contrasted with the oppressive and truly selfish system of Communism by which a few men achieve power and impose their will on hundreds of millions of their countrymen.

There are many unsung heroes in the commercial world but the impact of their "re-distribution of wealth" has certainly been felt in America by universities and colleges, churches, hospitals and other institutions supported by philanthrophy.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Please come up with some badly needed answers for manicurists who work in barber shops.

I'd like to know why 8 out of 10 customers seem to think the only reason we cut cuticles during the day is so we can make contacts for night work.

Please don't tell me to quit this job and go to work in a ladies' salon. Men tip three times as much as women and it takes half as long to give a man a manicure. Just tell me what to do when a jerk tries to hold hands in the finger bowl and wants to play kneesies under the manicure table. Thanks. —THE REDHEAD.

Dear Redhead: Keep the cuticle scissors handy and in evidence at all times. And when a jerk tries to play kneesies under the table, give him a kick that will knock a hole in his sock.

Mom Complex

Dear Ann: Is there something wrong with me or has news reporting become pathologically twisted? I don't even want to mention the third possibility — that this sick obsession with Mom has completely taken over our country.

I refer to the enormous number of men of achievement (and notoriety) who insist on being photographed with their mothers. Today's front page featured a GI just back from Viet Nam embracing Mom. Yesterday, it was an astronaut.

Swimming champions, concert pianists, spelling bee contestants, sweepstake winners, governors and Hollywood actors. Harvey Lee Oswald, too. They all want Mom to be there when they get their pictures taken.

Why don't these guys ever get in a picture with Dad? Women live longer than men, but all these missing fathers can't be dead. I have traveled extensively and I don't recall seeing pictures of Mom plastered all over the pages of European or Asiatic newspapers. Can it be that we Americans are living in a matriarchy and don't know it? —W. B. S.

Dear W. B. S.: We Americans are indeed living in a matriarchy and if I didn't know it before I began to write this column, I know it now.

One of the problems of our society is that Dad has either abdicated his paternal responsibilities in his mad quest for the almighty dollar, or Mom has shoved him into the background and taken over because she wants to run everything.

Minister's Family

Dear Ann: I'm a minister's wife who agrees with your stand that a minister does not have the right to drop in on members of his congregation without calling first.

And now, will you please help out countless ministers, and their wives, by informing members of their congregations that they should not drop in on us without calling first?

I can't remember the last time our family enjoyed an evening alone. We get barged in on at mealtime, bedtime and sermon - preparation time. When my husband is called out at odd hours of the night he goes willingly, since this is an important part of his work.

But most clergymen have families, just like the butcher or the banker, and they do want to spend some time at home.

A minister and his wife cannot afford the luxury of being candid. Please say it for us, Ann. A million thanks. — MUTED.

Dear Muted: I didn't have to say it. You did. And there is no better authority than you, Madame. Thank you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Educator Claimed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Prof. Emeritus Hessel E. Yntema of the University of Michigan, internationally known for his contributions in the field of comparative law, died Monday. Yntema, 75, was founder and editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Comparative law. He had been a member of the law school faculties at Columbia, Johns Hopkins and Yale universities.

Snow-Blower Purchase Set

Council Monday night authorized the administration to buy a used snow-blower for use in winter storm cleanups and provided $2,500 to cover the cost.

A snow-blower loaned by a Salineville equipment dealer was used here in mid-January to help remove the snow after two weekend storms. Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey both commented at the time that they felt the city should purchase such a piece of equipment.

It is capable of loading snow much more rapidly than the conventional method — hoisting it into trucks with high-lifts, they pointed out.

The blower is powered by an independent gasoline engine. It is mounted on the bucket of a high-lift, which then supplies the motive power.

The $2,500 for the blower's purchase was included in an amended appropriation ordinance which also included $1,000 for work on a baseball field as part of the city's recreation program; $40 for incidental expenses of the Civil Defense Council and $1,200 to hire an attorney who served as special counsel for the city in Federal Court at Pittsburgh during trial of an action filed by the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. in connection with any city claim against funds withheld from the wages of East Liverpool residents for city income tax purposes.

India's Premier Refused To Back U.S. Viet Policy

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Miniter Indira Gandhi, disclosed today that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had asked her government to support U.S. policy in Viet Nam, but she declined because of India's nonaligned position.

"The vice president asked us for support on U.S. policy in Viet Nam and elsewhere," Mrs. Gandhi told Parliament.

Mrs. Gandhi said she told Humphrey, who visited New Delhi last week, that India's view of the Viet Nam war is based on its position as a nonaligned country and as chairman of the International Control Commission for Southeast Asia.

India has pleaded in the past that its nonalignment and control commission connections prevent it from taking any part in the war or supporting U.S. policy there.

2 Heroes Die

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Texan Gives Life For Buddies

Danny Fernandez, of Los Lunas, N.M., and Stephen Laier, of Fort Wayne, Ind., died heroically in the war in Viet Nam. What were they like?

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — A Purple Heart for wounds received in one tour of duty in Viet Nam was not enough for Spec. 4 Daniel Fernandez of Los Lunas. He had to go back. Then a heroic gesture cost him his life.

Fernandez, 21, has been nominated for his country's highest decoration for bravery, the Medal of Honor, for giving his life to save his buddies.

Danny Fernandez died Friday in a fierce battle with the Viet Cong about 25 miles west of Saigon.

When a grenade was tossed into the midst of Danny's unit, he threw himself on it to shield others from the blast.

"When he spotted the grenade, he lunged on top of it without hesitation. He hollered, 'move out, you people,' and then it went off," said Spec. 4 James McKeown, Willingboro, N.J. Danny's unit was from Company C, 1st Battalion, 2nd Brigade of the 24th Infantry Division.

FRIENDS SAID Danny was an unselfish person who always got along well with others. He had a consuming passion for horses.

"He loved horses. He was a bronc buster," said his father, Jose I. Fernandez.

"He participated in amateur rodeos to quite an extent," said Roque Sanchez, a high school teacher. "He had no problems in making friends."

"He was an outstanding athlete in cross country, track and football. He got along with all the boys," said Los Lunas athletic director Nick Madrid.

Fernandez grew up in the pleasant little ranching and farming community of Los Lunas, a town of about 1,500 on the Rio Grande River 10 miles south of Albuquerque, and in Albuquerque. He has two brothers in school at home and a sister in college at Las Vegas.

"Daniel was always volunteering," his father said. "He was in the school patrol, 4-H Club, the March of Dimes. He helped for hours. He was an unselfish, generous person."

Lt. Joseph D'Orso, Norwalk, Conn., a member of Danny's platoon, echoed the father's words.

"He was always volunteering," D'Orso said. "He was ready to do anything."

Before being flown away in a medical evacuation helicopter, Fernandez asked Sgt. Ruben Perkins, Nashville, Tenn., "Who's going to take care of you now?"

"We had been working together since he joined the unit," Perkins said. "He called me 'Sergeant Rock' and I called him 'Old Dan.' He was real young, but real grown up in his attitude."

Platoon buddies said he was a friend to everyone, generous with his money when others had run out.

FERNANDEZ SAID his son was wounded in Viet Nam in March 1965 after volunteering to go there. The soldier was awarded the Air Medal and Purple Heart, sent home on furlough and transferred to Hawaii.

He volunteered to return to Viet Nam in January.

"I feel humble to know that my son did such a fine thing," his father said.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — "He probably was hesitant to write because he knew it would hurt us," said the father of Stephen Laier. "He was that kind of boy."

Joseph G. Laier was talking about his 18-year-old son who lost both legs in a Viet Cong mine blast. Laier and his wife didn't learn of their son's injuries until eight days before the young infantryman died.

Husky Stephen Laier was credited with guiding a patrol to his besieged unit in the jungles of Viet Nam Feb. 4, although mortally wounded himself.

The mine had torn off both his legs but the blond, 225-pound soldier stayed by his radio.

"I was the only man who could operate it," he told doctors before he died.

Laier tied rough tourniquets around the stumps of his legs and began calling his company headquarters to tell them of the ambush which killed three men of his unit and injured the remaining 11.

Laier, given 60 blood transfusions, lived 15 days. The doctors did everything to save him.

HIS FATHER, a foreman at a meat packing plant in this northeast Indiana city of 162,000, said his son was "not one to complain."

"You could not want a better boy than Steve," he said, "he was one in a million."

Fellow soldiers agreed. He was presented a Bronze Star with "V" for valor.

At Lakeside Junior High School, Laier won several trophies for archery. He also played football and had attended North Side High School before enlisting in the Army.

Parttime jobs kept him busy after school and during the summer. He had worked as a stock boy in a discount department store and later behind the counter in a restaurant.

He and his father owned a registered beagle pup, "Carmi." Steve had hoped to enter him in field trial competition.

Laier's letters home inquired about the dog, his father said. Nurse Marguerite Giroux helped the spunky soldier write some of these notes from the hospital at Bien Hoa.

"He was so brave that he didn't even want to tell his girl friend that he was so sick," the nurse recalled. "He said she should not have to worry about him."

Letters also were sent to a brother, Joseph L. Laier, in Edgerton, Ohio, two sisters, Karen and Kay, at home, and other friends.

His family later received a tribute to the young radioman written by his commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Jonathan Seaman of the 1st Infantry Division. It read: "With men like Laier, our division, our Army, our country will always be great."

He's Legally Alive

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Although John Powell, 52, was declared legally dead Oct. 19, 1961, after it was ruled he had left his wife and five children in 1953, he is now ordered to appear in circuit magistrate court here. Authorities found recently that he was living in Olney, Ill. and returned him to Rock Island for a hearing on charges of non-support.

Beaver Senator Named To Group In War On 'Dust'

Sen. Ernest P. Kline of Beaver Falls and Sen. William Z. Scott of Carbon County have been appointed to the Conference on Pneumoconiosis by Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Kline says the special committee is an outgrowth of the statewide convention on occupational diseases held in December 1964 at Harrisburg. At that meeting, experts from every field concerned with dust disease in Pennsylvania presented papers and took part in panel discussions.

Pneumoconiosis is a broad term given to chest diseases related to dust. The seriousness of the disease is pointed out in the 1966 fiscal budget which appropriated $28 million to meet benefits to workers disabled by occupational diseases.

"The Conference on Pneumoconiosis" will work in close cooperation with the State Department of Health," Kline said.

"An organization meeting is planned soon by the governor to permit the committee to begin work," he explained.

Man Injured As Door Falls

A 43-year-old St. Clair Township man was injured about the face and head late Monday afternoon when pinned underneath a 20-x-14-foot door which fell at a Klondyke plant, police reported.

Edward Bowyer of Westfield was listed in "satisfactory" condition today at Osteopathic Hospital.

X-rays disclosed a possible fracture of the lumbar vertebrae and a possible fracture of the nose.

Police said Bowyer was hurt about 4:30 while at work at the S. H. Bell Co. warehouse on Michigan Ave. Patrolman W. F. Copestick investigated.

Bowyer told the officer he was at work at the warehouse when the door fell, striking him on the head and face. He said the impact knocked him to a sitting position and then onto his back.

Police were notified by a fellow worker, Robert Freed of E. 2nd St. Freed said he and Bowyer were working on the door, but had not completed the task when they secured and chained it for the day. He said Bowyer was picking up tools when the door fell and struck him, pinning him underneath.

Freed raised the door, freed Bowyer and then summoned police. Officers called an ambulance to remove Bowyer to the hospital.

Another East Liverpool man was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with a possible skull injury suffered when he apparently fell on the sidewalk at W. 6th and Market Sts. about 5:25 p. m. yesterday.

John William Foreman Jr., 54, of W. 8th St. was admitted to the hospital after police received a report of an injured man lying on the sidewalk. Patrolman L. E. Richard, who investigated, said Foreman did not know what caused him to fall.

Council Gets Report

Fire Call System To Cost $58,000

A modern system of fire alarm call boxes will cost an estimated $58,000, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey told Council Monday night.

Vodrey supplied the estimate as part of a report submitted following a survey by the Bliss-Gamewell Corp. of Pittsburgh. The company, successor to the firm which installed the present system about 1913, was asked to make a study and recommendations.

THE DIRECTOR said the firm discovered that only three of the present 45 call boxes are functioning. It recommended a new system of 86 boxes, of which 83 would be new, he added. It would involve stringing 175,000 feet of wire.

In the present system, all the points on one circuit are affected if one box is out of order, Vodrey said. In the new Gamewell proposal, the boxes would operate independently, so that alarms could be received from all except the one that went out of service, he said.

The $58,000 figure is the company's estimate, but it is subject to revision if competitive bids are received, the director said. He asked Council to consider the need for a new system "for the safety of the city and to prevent a possible boost in insurance rates."

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson said she has received a letter from the Ohio Inspection Bureau in which it said call boxes are needed only in "high value areas" and at institutions such as hospitals and rest homes.

Vodrey said he also received a proposal from the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which said it would lease a system of 54 call boxes to the city at a monthly charge of $1,000.

His suggestions were referred to the finance committee for study.

VODREY ALSO reported that the city's mechanical street sweeper is broken down and asked Council to consider whether it should be repaired or replaced with a new machine. A mechanic examined the machine last Thursday and submitted a three-page list of parts and service needed for repair, he said.

The cost would total $3,500 to $5,000, plus transportation to the factory at Cleveland, Vodrey said. A new sweeper would cost $10,000 to $11,000, but it would be about three months before it could be delivered, even if the enabling legislation was passed immediately, the director said.

Vodrey also reported that a mutual aid fire agreement with Wellsville is due for renewal. In effect for years, it comes up for renewal each three years, he said. The director also asked Council to consider the need for purchase of a new police cruiser.

Councilman Robert W. Sample, chairman of the finance committee, said his committee will confer with Vodrey Wednesday night on the question of the sweeper and the cruiser purchase.

Councilman Floyd Murray asked Mayor George E. Willshaw to consider reactivating the defunct City Traffic Commission. He said the commission might be able to solve some of the city's traffic problems.

Mrs. Wilson declared Council should assist the director in helping locate a building that could be rented or bought to house some of the city's rolling stock. She said the equipment now "sits out day and night at the mercy of the elements." Her motion was approved.

COUNCILMAN Harold Maylone said he learned a new carry-out beer permit was issued by the State Liquor Control Department to a neighborhood store "directly across the street from a school." He said he was under the impression the state board checked with Council before granting such permits to learn if there were any objections.

"I would like to know if anyone can tell me how we can do anything about this," Maylone said.

Sample suggested he check with Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper.

Council approved a motion by Councilman Norman Bucher to allow Mrs. Edna Sweeney, assistant clerk, to purchase a new filing cabinet for storage of records.

Councilman Frank Duffy asked if any action had been taken on a suggestion he made Feb. 7 for installation of a gas line so that heat could be provided for the city dog pound in a converted garage at the sewage plant. Sample said he believed the installation was a prerogative of the director, but he since has learned it should be handled by the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water and sewage departments. He said he will check with the utilities board soon.

Kenneth McCarty, a representative of the city employes union, asked why some salaried employes were not included in legislation granting longevity pay. President Ernest Lowe said the question has been referred to the finance committee and an answer should be ready by March 7.

Council met in a caucus session with representatives of the State Health Board to consider a long-standing proposal for a merger of the city and county health districts. They included Dr. T. A. Gardner, chief of local services, and James Warfield, both of Columbus. Harry Stockdale represented the county board.

The meeting opened with invocation by the Rev. John Stilts of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church.

Claim Payments Voted In Council

Council gave approval Monday night to resolutions authorizing the payment of three claims totaling $660 against the city.

The claimants and the amounts they will be paid are:

Kenneth R. Kibler of 2409 St. Clair Ave., $455.50 for damage to his parked auto on Jan. 14 when it was struck by a city police cruiser.

Milton J. and Ruth A. Kittle of 1038 Edgewood Ave., $165.50 for damages to their car and injuries to Mrs. Kittle on Dec. 10 when their auto was struck from the rear by an incinerator department truck at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts.

Bruce Kelly of 3242 St. Clair Ave., $40.33 as a result of damage to his property resulting from a stoppage in a sanitary sewer for which he claimed the city was responsible.

Three other bills against the city received last night were referred to the claims committee for investigation.

Jay C. Mason of 145 W. 4th St. asked $8.93 for an oil filter on his car which he said was damaged last Wednesday when his car hit a bump and some loose bricks on E. 4th St.

John Blankenship of Florence St. asked $36.64, alleging that his auto hit a hole in Dresden Ave. pavement Feb. 15, breaking a rear spring and damaging the axle.

The Borad of Public Utilities sent Council a letter in which it said it has investigated the claim of William Lister of 826 Riverview St., who filed a claim for $73 against the sewage department. The board suggested the city should pay half of Lister's claim, or $36.50.

In addition, James Lowe, chairman of the claims committee, reported approval of a bill filed by James Ferguson of Garfield St., who alleged his car was hit by a fire truck. Two more claims still are under investigation, Lowe said.

Bids Planned For Road Oil; Raises Voted

Despite chill February temperatures outside, City Council was looking forward Monday night to the hot, dry weather of summer when it enacted legislation authorizing the administration to call for bids and let a contract for purchase of 50,000 gallons of oil to be used in holding down dust on unimproved streets and alleys.

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey suggested enactment of the legislation at the Feb. 7 meeting. He said early action would permit the city to go through the routine of publishing legal advertisements and award a contract well in advance of the need for the oil.

The legislation carries an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect immediately after it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw.

Three other pieces of routine legislation were approved by Council. They will:

Vacate Forbes Alley between Oakwood Ave. and Ceramic St. on Pleasant Heights, with the city retaining the right to maintain, repair, replace and service all utility lines that lie in the stretch.

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson moved to table the legislation, asserting she feels Council should not vacate any thoroughfare until the action has been cleared with the City Planning Commission. But the motion to table was defeated, 6-1, and the legislation was passed by the same vote.

Grant raises from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour for all part-time adult school crossing guards and give a $140 boost to $375 monthly to Mrs. Pauline Melvin, city relief director. All the raises will become effective April 1.

cy reports compiled by the late Chief Bryan, according to reports.

ALL THREE assistant chiefs received the same seniority credit, since all have been firemen for more than 14 years, the maximum credit allowable.

The "safety department" personnel rating forms were instituted about eight years ago and were prepared by Chief Bryan for all firemen. They are to be signed by the department head and supervising officer.

The forms include two categories — investigative ability and alertness — which apparently are intended primarily for police officers. Investigative ability is to be rated from excellent to poor while alertness, according to the report, is to be graded on recognition of crime hazards, suspicious characters and street patrols.

Van Dyne, who is married and resides on Cadmus St., became a fireman April 1, 1940.

In 1957 he and Pelley won promotional tests for assistant chiefs. Van Dyne's appointment was effective Jan. 1, 1958, and Pelley's went into effect the following day.

One vacancy was created by the retirement of Clem Dawson and the other was created by Council.

During Chief Bryan's illness and following his death on Jan. 10, Van Dyne served as acting head of the department. Mayor Willshaw appointed Pelley as acting chief on Feb. 13 to serve "until further notice."

Besides Tullis, A. A. Fiorillo, and Donal I. Burcham, commission members, and P. K. Calhoon, secretary, attended the test.

THE COMMISSION also agreed to certify three names to Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to fill a vacancy on the department and decided to take under advisement a request from Robert Lynn for reinstatement as a fireman.

The commission certified the names of Robert E. Miller of 2117 St. Clair Ave., Jerry Allen Rose of Maine Blvd. and Michael Walton of 140 Laurel Ln. to the director. They had the top three positions on the current eligibility list. Miller's brother, James, now is a member of the department.

The vacancy was created by the resignation of D. James Hays to accept a post office appointment. Hays' resignation was submitted Friday and became effective yesterday.

Lynn resigned July 10 as a fireman. Under the law, he may request reinstatement within a year. Firemen James Walker and Ralph Chapman were reinstated last year after resigning their posts.

3 Treated At Hospital After Store Accident

Dr. suffered abrasions of the right knee when struck by the falling ceiling, which store officials said was approximately 50 feet long and 40 feet wide.

Donald Curran of Lisbon R.D. 2 suffered contusions of the forehead when hit on the head.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Please come up with some badly needed answers for manicurists who work in barber shops.

I'd like to know why 8 out of 10 customers seem to think the only reason we cut cuticles during the day is so we can make contacts for night work.

Please don't tell me to quit this job and go to work in a ladies' salon. Men tip three times as much as women and it takes half as long to give a man a manicure. Just tell me what to do when a jerk tries to hold hands in the finger bowl and wants to play kneesies under the manicure table. Thanks. —THE REDHEAD.

Dear Redhead: Keep the cuticle scissors handy and in evidence at all times. And when a jerk tries to play kneesies under the table, give him a kick that will knock a hole in his sock.

Mom Complex

Dear Ann: Is there something wrong with me or has news reporting become pathologically twisted? I don't even want to mention the third possibility — that this sick obsession with Mom has completely taken over our country.

I refer to the enormous number of men of achievement (and notoriety) who insist on being photographed with their mothers. Today's front page featured a GI just back from Viet Nam embracing Mom. Yesterday, it was an astronaut.

Swimming champions, concert pianists, spelling bee contestants, sweepstake winners, governors and Hollywood actors. Harvey Lee Oswald, too. They all want Mom to be there when they get their pictures taken.

Why don't these guys ever get in a picture with Dad? Women live longer than men, but all these missing fathers can't be dead. I have traveled extensively and I don't recall seeing pictures of Mom plastered all over the pages of European or Asiatic newspapers. Can it be that we Americans are living in a matriarchy and don't know it? —W. B. S.

Dear W. B. S.: We Americans are indeed living in a matriarchy and if I didn't know it before I began to write this column, I know it now.

One of the problems of our society is that Dad has either abdicated his paternal responsibilities in his mad quest for the almighty dollar, or Mom has shoved him into the background and taken over because she wants to run everything.

Minister's Family

Dear Ann: I'm a minister's wife who agrees with your stand that a minister does not have the right to drop in on members of his congregation without calling first.

And now, will you please help out countless ministers, and their wives, by informing members of their congregations that they should not drop in on us without calling first?

I can't remember the last time our family enjoyed an evening alone. We get barged in on at mealtime, bedtime and sermon - preparation time. When my husband is called out at odd hours of the night he goes willingly, since this is an important part of his work.

But most clergymen have families, just like the butcher or the banker, and they do want to spend some time at home.

A minister and his wife cannot afford the luxury of being candid. Please say it for us, Ann. A million thanks. — MUTED.

Dear Muted: I didn't have to say it. You did. And there is no better authority than you, Madame. Thank you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Educator Claimed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Prof. Emeritus Hessel E. Yntema of the University of Michigan, internationally known for his contributions in the field of comparative law, died Monday. Yntema, 75, was founder and editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Comparative law. He had been a member of the law school faculties at Columbia, Johns Hopkins and Yale universities.

Snow-Blower Purchase Set

Council Monday night authorized the administration to buy a used snow-blower for use in winter storm cleanups and provided $2,500 to cover the cost.

A snow-blower loaned by a Salineville equipment dealer was used here in mid-January to help remove the snow after two weekend storms. Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey both commented at the time that they felt the city should purchase such a piece of equipment.

It is capable of loading snow much more rapidly than the conventional method — hoisting it into trucks with high-lifts, they pointed out.

The blower is powered by an independent gasoline engine. It is mounted on the bucket of a high-lift, which then supplies the motive power.

The $2,500 for the blower's purchase was included in an amended appropriation ordinance which also included $1,000 for work on a baseball field as part of the city's recreation program; $40 for incidental expenses of the Civil Defense Council and $1,200 to hire an attorney who served as special counsel for the city in Federal Court at Pittsburgh during trial of an action filed by the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. in connection with any city claim against funds withheld from the wages of East Liverpool residents for city income tax purposes.

India's Premier Refused To Back U.S. Viet Policy

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Miniter Indira Gandhi, disclosed today that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had asked her government to support U.S. policy in Viet Nam, but she declined because of India's nonaligned position.

"The vice president asked us for support on U.S. policy in Viet Nam and elsewhere," Mrs. Gandhi told Parliament.

Mrs. Gandhi said she told Humphrey, who visited New Delhi last week, that India's view of the Viet Nam war is based on its position as a nonaligned country and as chairman of the International Control Commission for Southeast Asia.

India has pleaded in the past that its nonalignment and control commission connections prevent it from taking any part in the war or supporting U.S. policy there.

Texan Gives Life For Buddies

Danny Fernandez, of Los Lunas, N.M., and Stephen Laier, of Fort Wayne, Ind., died heroically in the war in Viet Nam. What were they like?

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — A Purple Heart for wounds received in one tour of duty in Viet Nam was not enough for Spec. 4 Daniel Fernandez of Los Lunas. He had to go back. Then a heroic gesture cost him his life.

Fernandez, 21, has been nominated for his country's highest decoration for bravery, the Medal of Honor, for giving his life to save his buddies.

Danny Fernandez died Friday in a fierce battle with the Viet Cong about 25 miles west of Saigon.

When a grenade was tossed into the midst of Danny's unit, he threw himself on it to shield others from the blast.

"When he spotted the grenade, he lunged on top of it without hesitation. He hollered, 'move out, you people,' and then it went off," said Spec. 4 James McKeown, Willingboro, N.J. Danny's unit was from Company C, 1st Battalion, 2nd Brigade of the 24th Infantry Division.

FRIENDS SAID Danny was an unselfish person who always got along well with others. He had a consuming passion for horses.

"He loved horses. He was a bronc buster," said his father, Jose I. Fernandez.

"He participated in amateur rodeos to quite an extent," said Roque Sanchez, a high school teacher. "He had no problems in making friends."

"He was an outstanding athlete in cross country, track and football. He got along with all the boys," said Los Lunas athletic director Nick Madrid.

Fernandez grew up in the pleasant little ranching and farming community of Los Lunas, a town of about 1,500 on the Rio Grande River 10 miles south of Albuquerque, and in Albuquerque. He has two brothers in school at home and a sister in college at Las Vegas.

"Daniel was always volunteering," his father said. "He was in the school patrol, 4-H Club, the March of Dimes. He helped for hours. He was an unselfish, generous person."

Lt. Joseph D'Orso, Norwalk, Conn., a member of Danny's platoon, echoed the father's words.

"He was always volunteering," D'Orso said. "He was ready to do anything."

Before being flown away in a medical evacuation helicopter, Fernandez asked Sgt. Ruben Perkins, Nashville, Tenn., "Who's going to take care of you now?"

"We had been working together since he joined the unit," Perkins said. "He called me 'Sergeant Rock' and I called him 'Old Dan.' He was real young, but real grown up in his attitude."

Platoon buddies said he was a friend to everyone, generous with his money when others had run out.

FERNANDEZ SAID his son was wounded in Viet Nam in March 1965 after volunteering to go there. The soldier was awarded the Air Medal and Purple Heart, sent home on furlough and transferred to Hawaii.

He volunteered to return to Viet Nam in January.

"I feel humble to know that my son did such a fine thing," his father said.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — "He probably was hesitant to write because he knew it would hurt us," said the father of Stephen Laier. "He was that kind of boy."

Joseph G. Laier was talking about his 18-year-old son who lost both legs in a Viet Cong mine blast. Laier and his wife didn't learn of their son's injuries until eight days before the young infantryman died.

Husky Stephen Laier was credited with guiding a patrol to his besieged unit in the jungles of Vet Nam Feb. 4, although mortally wounded himself.

The mine had torn off both his legs but the blond, 225-pound soldier stayed by his radio.

"I was the only man who could operate it," he told doctors before he died.

Laier tied rough tourniquets around the stumps of his legs and began calling his company headquarters to tell them of the ambush which killed three men of his unit and injured the remaining 11.

Laier, given 60 blood transfusions, lived 15 days. The doctors did everything to save him.

HIS FATHER, a foreman at a meat packing plant in this northeast Indiana city of 162,-000, said his son was "not one to complain."

"You could not want a better boy than Steve," he said, "he was one in a million."

Fellow soldiers agreed. He was presented a Bronze Star with "V" for valor.

At Lakeside Junior High School, Laier won several trophies for archery. He also played football and had attended North Side High School before enlisting in the Army.

Parttime jobs kept him busy after school and during the summer. He had worked as a stock boy in a discount department store and later behind the counter in a restaurant.

He and his father owned a registered beagle pup, "Carmi." Steve had hoped to enter him in field trial competition.

Laier's letters home inquired about the dog, his father said. Nurse Marguerite Giroux helped the spunky soldier write some of these notes from the hospital at Bien Hoa.

"He was so brave that he didn't even want to tell his girl friend that he was so sick," the nurse recalled. "He said she should not have to worry about him."

Letters also were sent to a brother, Joseph L. Laier, in Edgerton, Ohio, two sisters, Karen and Kay, at home, and other friends.

His family later received a tribute to the young radioman written by his commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Jonathan Seaman of the 1st Infantry Division. It read: "With men like Laier, our division, our Army, our country will always be great."

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Although John Powell, 52, was declared legally dead Oct. 19, 1961, after it was ruled he had left his wife and five children in 1953, he is now ordered to appear in circuit magistrate court here. Authorities found recently that he was living in Olney, Ill. and returned him to Rock Island for a hearing on charges of non-support.

An Eye In Buckingham Palace

Television has poked its electronic eye in the past into such historic haunts as the White House and the Kremlin. It soon is to gain entry, according to a reliable source, to Great Britain's sacrosanct Buckingham Palace.

Richard Doan

Details of the hush-hush TV project are lacking, except that it reportedly will be a joint undertaking of the entire British television industry under supervision of the non-commercial British Broadcasting Corp.

-:-

IT IS EXPECTED that the filmed tour of the British sovereign's London residence in St. James' Park will be shown in the United States over the NBC network.

Neither BBC nor NBC, however, has yet said anything publicly about the program.

It is understood the Buckingham tour will be conducted for TV viewers by a leading English authority on the history of the palace.

TV never has been permitted to view its art-laden halls and chambers. NBC's Luch Jarvis, who had an important hand in that network's televised visits to the Kremlin and France's Louvre, tried unsuccessfully to get permission to film such a tour as the one now being planned.

CBS has been angling for sometime for a TV tour of the Vatican, but it till awaits a final nod from the Catholic hierarchy.

NBC is said to have won U.S. TV rights to the Buckingham Palace program because of its close working relationship with the BBC.

-:-

ABC'S Saturday night grandstand play next fall will be Berle to Welk to Godfrey to Crosby. Or so trade gossip has it.

One thing is sure:

ABC's programmers are not denying a report, in the wake of their announcement that Milton Berle will star in a weekly variety hour for them next season, that they also are about to add Arthur Godfrey to their 1966-67 lineup.

It also is conceded that ABC probably will try to land Bing Crosby's services for enough host appearances on "Hollywood Palace" to make him the more or less star of the piece. He was its premiere host several seasons back and has appeared on the show from time to time since.

GODFREYS show would be a half hour long, sandwiched either between Berle and Welk or between Welk and "Palace" with the latter, in that case, being pushed back to a 10 p.m. curtain.

Apparently ABC News' "Scope," listed on the current network schedule at 10:30 p.m. Saturdays but carried by most ABC stations at some other time (or not at all), would be dropped from prime time.

The proposed Saturday night lineup would give ABC 3½ continuous hours of song and dance.

Godfrey, like Berle, is one of TV's early-day luminaries who has been in discard lately except for occasional specials. Like Berle, he has gotten some picture work. Like Berle, he gained freedom a few months ago from old network contractual restrictions.

-:-

GODFREY, however, still does a CBS Radio morning show which is a bulwark of that radio chain.

ABC's prospective Berle-Welk - Godfrey - Crosby parlay prompted a rival networker to crack, "They oughta sell the whole evening to a tonic for the aging!"

The apparent oldster appeal of such a lineup is a switch for ABC, which has played heavily for young audiences in recent seasons with such offerings as "Shindig," "Gidget," "Tammy" and "Patty Duke."

NBC for unannounced reasons is doing its fall programming much more in public view than either of its competitors.

ABC and CBS, likewise in the throes of final judgments on next September's evening lineups, so far are playing their program plans close to the vest.

At NBC it now is general knowledge that "Hullabaloo" and "My Mother the Car" will be unloaded at season's end, along with "Dr. Kildare" and other series previously indicated as finished. "Laredo" is on the iffy list.

Screen Gems beat NBC to an announcement that the network had bought a new comedy series, "The Monkees," about the "antic adventures" of a rock 'n' roll quartet.

Hearing Set March 1 In Holdup Slaying

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A preliminary hearing has been set for March 1 for one of two men charged with first-degree murder and armed robbery in the holdup slaying last Saturday of a part-time grocery clerk, Raymond Pounds, 28.

The hearing for Joseph Jones, 26, of Elyria, was set Monday when he pleaded innocent in Lorain Municipal Court. Thomas W. Hill, 25, also of Elyria, is to be arraigned on similar charges Thursday.

Beer, Whisky Stolen At Kensington Tavern

LISBON — Beer and whisky valued at $150 were taken from the Miners' Tavern in Kensington in a burglary sometime Sunday night or Monday morning, Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan's office reported.

The intruders apparently gained entrance by prying apart wooden slats on an outside staircase, which gave them access to a cooler near the bar, the sheriff's office said. Taking 18 to 20 cases of beer and 18 to 20 fifths of liquor, the burglars apparently exited by unlocking a rear door.

Chief Deputy Robert Beresford investigated.

Murder-Suicide Seen In Death Of Ohio Couple

CINCINNATI (AP)— A suburban couple with no record of marital troubles were dead today as the result of a murder-suicide in the parking lot of the wife's employer, police said.

They were identified as James Pierce Kipling, 47, and his wife Jean Violet, 45, Silverton, parents of a 20-year-old son and 14-year-old daughter.

William A. Gregg, Mrs. Kipling's direct supervisor at the Winton Hill Technical Center of Procter & Gamble Co. told police he saw the fatal shots fired Monday.

Mrs. Kipling worked at the technical center as a stenographer and her husband was waiting for her in a car as she got off work. Gregg said he saw Kipling fire three shots as she was about to enter the car.

As Mrs. Kipling fell to the ground, her husband, an unemployed former mental patient, put the gun to his head and fired, Gregg recounted to police.

Mrs. Kipling was dead on arrival at General Hospital with two wounds in her chest and one in her head. Kipling died two hours later.

Bids Planned For Road Oil; Raises Voted

Despite chill February temperatures outside, City Council was looking forward Monday night to the hot, dry weather of summer when it enacted legislation authorizing the administration to call for bids and let a contract for purchase of 50,000 gallons of oil to be used in holding down dust on unimproved streets and alleys.

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey suggested enactment of the legislation at the Feb. 7 meeting. He said early action would permit the city to go through the routine of publishing legal advertisements and award a contract well in advance of the need for the oil.

The legislation carries an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect immediately after it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw.

Three other pieces of routine legislation were approved by Council. They will:

Vacate Forbes Alley between Oakwood Ave. and Ceramic St. on Pleasant Heights, with the city retaining the right to maintain, repair, replace and service all utility lines that lie in the stretch.

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson moved to table the legislation, asserting she feels Council should not vacate any thoroughfare until the action has been cleared with the City Planning Commission. But the motion to table was defeated, 6-1, and the legislation was passed by the same vote.

Grant raises from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour for all part-time adult school crossing guards and give a $140 boost to $375 monthly to Mrs. Pauline Melvin, city relief director. All the raises will become effective April 1.

Designate the First National Bank and the Potters Bank & Trust Co. as official depositories of city funds for the two-year period from March 1, 1966, to March 1, 1968.

cy reports compiled by the late Chief Bryan, according to reports.

ALL THREE assistant chiefs received the same seniority credit, since all have been firemen for more than 14 years, the maximum credit allowable.

The "safety department" personnel rating forms were instituted about eight years ago and were prepared by Chief Bryan for all firemen. They are to be signed by the department head and supervising officer.

The forms include two categories — investigative ability and alertness — which apparently are intended primarily for police officers. Investigative ability is to be rated from excellent to poor while alertness, according to the report, is to be graded on recognition of crime hazards, suspicious characters and street patrols.

Van Dyne, who is married and resides on Cadmus St., became a fireman April 1, 1940.

In 1957 he and Pelley won promotional tests for assistant chiefs. Van Dyne's appointment was effective Jan. 1, 1958, and Pelley's went into effect the following day.

One vacancy was created by the retirement of Clem Dawson and the other was created by Council.

During Chief Bryan's illness and following his death on Jan. 10, Van Dyne served as acting head of the department. Mayor Willshaw appointed Pelley as acting chief on Feb. 13 to serve "until further notice."

Besides Tullis, A. A. Fiorillo, and Donal I. Burcham, commission members, and P. K. Calhoon, secretary, attended the test.

THE COMMISSION also agreed to certify three names to Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to fill a vacancy on the department and decided to take under advisement a request from Robert Lynn for reinstatement as a fireman.

The commission certified the names of Robert E. Miller of 2117 St. Clair Ave., Jerry Allen Rose of Maine Blvd. and Michael Walton of 140 Laurel Ln. to the director. They had the top three positions on the current eligibility list. Miller's brother, James, now is a member of the department.

The vacancy was created by the resignation of D. James Hays to accept a post office appointment. Hays' resignation was submitted Friday and became effective yesterday.

Lynn resigned July 10 as a fireman. Under the law, he may request reinstatement within a year. Firemen James Walker and Ralph Chapman were reinstated last year after resigning their posts.

In Council Action

Meter Purchase Plans Approved

Council approved legislation Monday night clearing the way for the administration to call for bids and buy 500 new parking meters, trading in an equal number of the worn-out devices now in service.

The resolution is designed primarily to allow replacement of the more than 300 Dual Parking Meter Co. machines remaining from an original installation of 475 made in September 1947.

It does not limit Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety-Service Director Robert Vodrey on the type of meter which they may purchase, acting as the Board of Control. The way is clear, therefore, to award a contract either for automatic or manual types.

The automatic, spring-activated, begin to function as soon as a coin is inserted. The manual requires the motorist to turn a handle to activate the mechanism after inserting a coin. The city now has both manual and automatic type is in service, but most are the automatic type.

The legislation provides the officials will determine the low net bid by subtracting the trade-in offer from each bidder's gross offer. It asserts that the city has "500 parking meters which are unfit for public use. . ."

Last night's action came as a climax to at least five years intermittent discussion of the need for new meters in which no final action was taken. The administration of former Mayor Merrill D. Hall received two sets of bids on meters, although the enabling legislation approved by Council allowed it to consider only the automatic types. Both sets of bids were rejected.

The legislation stipulates two ways in which the city may pay for the meters. The first alternate allows payment to be make in cash within 60 days. The other sets up the so-called "excess revenue" plan, calling for monthly installments.

In this setup, the city would pay to the manufacturer each month an amount representing the difference between the meter receipts for each month in 1966, as compared with the revenue in the same month of 1965. For instance, if the revenue in May 1966 hit $5,000 and the receipts in May 1965 were $4,000, the manufacturer would be paid $1,000.

The legislation contains an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect as soon as it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw. Each "emergency" ordinance must contain a clause explaining the reason why the ordinance should go into immediate effect. In this instance it says:

"Said emergency lies in the fact that the present parking meters are in such condition as to be unfit for public use and installation of new meters is required immediately in order to properly enforce present ordinances for the control of motor vehicle traffic and this action therefore is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, safety and welfare of said city and its citizens."

Councilmen Floyd Murray, Norman Bucher and Frank Duffy, the three Democrats, expressed concern over one of the alternate proposals to pay for the meters in cash by appropriating $25,000 out of income tax revenue. But in the end they voted for the legislation, allowing it to be approved unanimously.

The Democrats' objections were overcome when Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said he would pledge his word that the administration would not award a meter contract until it was agreeable to Council.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper told Council the alternative bidding procedures were set up in order that the administration might get comparative prices. He indicated some firms might submit lower prices for cash, compared with installment payments.

"If we can save $4,000 to $5,000 by paying cash, I feel that is the way it should be done," Councilman Robert W. Sample remarked. "The meters will pay for themselves in less than a year."

In connection with the $25,000 appropriation, Cooper pointed out state law requires the money for a purchase must be "on hand on in the process of collection" before a contract can be signed. The fact the $25,000 was appropriated does not mean necessarily that it will be spent, he added.

"I don't feel that the money for these meters should be taken out of the income tax fund," Murray said when the ordinance was ready for a final vote. "I want to go on record with that statement. If we spent the money for meters, it might force us to cut back on our street program this summer."

Bucher and Duffy said they agreed with Murray. Then Council approved a motion by Bucher that the specifications require that the meters be capable of accepting tokens as well as coins, following through on an agreement made last year between Council and the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

The ELMA is drafting a proposal under which its members would refund shoppers' parking fees by giving tokens with purchases.

Driver Hurt On Route 14

A Columbiana man was injured Monday night when his car rammed beneath a slow-moving tractor - trailer truck on Route 14, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Lucian T. Tyson, 26, of Columbiana was admitted to Salem City Hospital with severe lacerations of the knee and hand and bruises of the forehead received in the crash about 500 yards east of Washingtonville.

Officers said his 1960 sedan ran underneath the rig, operated by George Wallace, 26, of Pittsburgh, which was ascending a hill. There was extensive damage to the auto, the patrol said. The mishap is still under investigation.

Thomas Lee Edgell, 19, of Andrews St. was cited after his 1965 pickup truck ran into the rear of a 1962 convertible operated by William Arthur Montooth, 17, of Calcutta on Route 170 at the entrance of the St. Clair Plaza at 3:50 p. m.

Montooth was making a left turn into the plaza when his car was struck. There was moderate damage to both vehicles.

Repaving Continued In College St. Section

The block - long section of College St. between E. 3rd and E. 4th Sts. remained closed to traffic again today as workmen continued to level a 100-foot-long stretch that heaved up last week, apparently from the alternate thawing and frosting.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said he is not sure when the street will be reopened to traffic.

It was closed last Friday after the bricks were heaved up in a long stretch on the steep grade. The section must be leveled and the bricks relaid on a sand base before it can be opened, the director said.

$50 Reward Offered In Theft At Junk Yard

LISBON — An auto parts dealer near Columbiana is offering a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction "of a person or persons" believed to have stolen a transmission from his junk yard.

A. and N. Auto Parts on Route 14 reported to the sheriff's office a four-speed transmission for a 1963 Chevrolet apparently was taken Monday night from the premises.

Board To Buy 2 Typewriters

LISBON — The County Board of Education voted Monday night to buy two new electric typewriters for the school board's office at a total price of $895.

The board agreed to buy models produced by the International Business Machines Corp. for use by two secretaries. A trade-in of $495 will be allowed for two machines now in use, making the net price of the new devices $400.

In other action, the board authorized a group of local women to grade state survey tests of 1,100 students in grades 4 and 6 in all rural school districts at 10 cents per test. A commercial grading firm had offered to score the examinations at 27 cents each.

All rural schools are scheduled to be closed Friday because of a workshop at Beaver Local School arranged by the Columbiana County Education Association.

Fred Lohman, attendance officer, reported that he drove a total of 907 miles during January, making 79 calls — 48 at schools and 31 at homes.

Supt. James McBride reported on the American Association of School Administrators meeting which he and Allan Chamberlin attended last week in Atlantic City.

Dance Plans Set By Kent Center, Tour Scheduled

Final plans have been made for a dance to be held by Kent State Academic Center students Friday night from 9 to 12 at the Elks Lodge ballroom.

Mike Bridge, major events chairman, said "The Uncalled Four" of Salem will provide music for the event. Local high school seniors are invited to the dance for which tickets are available at the Kent offices at the IBOP Building or at the door that night.

Registration is being held for a planned New York theater tour March 18-23 by the students.

The tour will include a bus trip to New York from the Warren Academic Center, stay at the Picadilly Hotel, visits throughout New York sites, television studies and theaters, United Nations and return to the Warren center.

Registration for the $71 trip may be made with John Hedrick, Center director, or Don Brown, Student Senate president.

City To Continue Surfacing Work

Council went on record Monday night committing the city to continue the annual summer low-cost street surfacing program, under which the municipality pays over 50 per cent of the cost of each project out of income tax revenue.

Council acted after Councilman Floyd Murray, chairman of the street committee, commented that official action should be taken in order to advise the public.

"I feel we should let the public know as quickly as possible if the program is to be continued in order that property owners can begin to make plans to participate," Murray said. He added that petitions for requesting the work should be made available at the office of Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey.

Murray included a stipulation that the city will continue to apply seal coats free of cost two years after a street has been given its initial surfacing. Council approved his suggestion, which included a recommendation that the finance committee earmark funds for the 1966 program.

There are some 200 grizzly bears in Yellowstone National Park, but unlike the black bears that beg for food along the highways, they are rarely seen by tourists.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

An Eye In Buckingham Palace

Television has poked its electronic eye in the past into such historic haunts as the White House and the Kremlin. It soon is to gain entry, according to a reliable source, to Great Britain's sacrosanct Buckingham Palace.

Richard Doan

Details of the hush-hush TV project are lacking, except that it reportedly will be a joint undertaking of the entire British television industry under supervision of the non-commercial British Broadcasting Corp.

-:-

IT IS EXPECTED that the filmed tour of the British sovereign's London residence in St. James' Park will be shown in the United States over the NBC network.

Neither BBC nor NBC, however, has yet said anything publicly about the program.

It is understood the Buckingham tour will be conducted for TV viewers by a leading English authority on the history of the palace.

TV never has been permitted to view its art-laden halls and chambers. NBC's Luch Jarvis, who had an important hand in that network's televised visits to the Kremlin and France's Louvre, tried unsuccessfully to get permission to film such a tour as the one now being planned.

CBS has been angling for sometime for a TV tour of the Vatican, but it till awaits a final nod from the Catholic hierarchy.

NBC is said to have won U.S. TV rights to the Buckingham Palace program because of its close working relationship with the BBC.

ABC'S Saturday night grandstand play next fall will be Berle to Welk to Godfrey to Crosby. Or so trade gossip has it.

One thing is sure:

ABC's programmers are not denying a report, in the wake of their announcement that Milton Berle will star in a weekly variety hour for them next season, that they also are about to add Arthur Godfrey to their 1966-67 lineup.

It also is conceded that ABC probably will try to land Bing Crosby's services for enough host appearances on "Hollywood Palace" to make him the more or less star of the piece. He was its premiere host several seasons back and has appeared on the show from time to time since.

GODFREYS show would be a half hour long, sandwiched either between Berle and Welk or between Welk and "Palace" with the latter, in that case, being pushed back to a 10 p.m. curtain.

Apparently ABC News' "Scope," listed on the current network schedule at 10:30 p.m. Saturdays but carried by most ABC stations at some other time (or not at all), would be dropped from prime time.

The proposed Saturday night lineup would give ABC 3½ continuous hours of song and dance.

Godfrey, like Berle, is one of TV's early-day luminaries who has been in discard lately except for occasional specials. Like Berle, he has gotten some picture work. Like Berle, he gained freedom a few months ago from old network contractual restrictions.

GODFREY, however, still does a CBS Radio morning show which is a bulwark of that radio chain.

ABC's prospective Berle-Welk - Godfrey - Crosby parlay prompted a rival networker to crack, "They oughta sell the whole evening to a tonic for the aging!"

The apparent oldster appeal of such a lineup is a switch for ABC, which has played heavily for young audiences in recent seasons with such offerings as "Shindig," "Gidget," "Tammy" and "Patty Duke."

NBC for unannounced reasons is doing its fall programming much more in public view than either of its competitors.

ABC and CBS, likewise in the throes of final judgments on next September's evening lineups, so far are playing their program plans close to the vest.

At NBC it now is general knowledge that "Hullabaloo" and "My Mother the Car" will be unloaded at season's end, along with "Dr. Kildare" and other series previously indicated as finished. "Laredo" is on the iffy list.

Screen Gems beat NBC to an announcement that the network had bought a new comedy series, "The Monkees," about the "antic adventures" of a rock 'n' roll quartet.

Hearing Set March 1 In Holdup Slaying

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A preliminary hearing has been set for March 1 for one of two men charged with first-degree murder and armed robbery in the holdup slaying last Saturday of a part-time grocery clerk, Raymond Pounds, 28.

The hearing for Joseph Jones, 26, of Elyria, was set Monday when he pleaded innocent in Lorain Municipal Court. Thomas W. Hill, 25, also of Elyria, is to be arraigned on similar charges Thursday.

Beer, Whisky Stolen At Kensington Tavern

LISBON — Beer and whisky valued at $150 were taken from the Miners' Tavern in Kensington in a burglary sometime Sunday night or Monday morning, Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan's office reported.

The intruders apparently gained entrance by prying apart wooden slats on an outside staircase, which gave them access to a cooler near the bar, the sheriff's office said. Taking 18 to 20 cases of beer and 18 to 20 fifths of liquor, the burglars apparently exited by unlocking a rear door.

Chief Deputy Robert Beresford investigated.

Murder-Suicide Seen In Death Of Ohio Couple

CINCINNATI (AP)— A suburban couple with no record of marital troubles were dead today as the result of a murder-suicide in the parking lot of the wife's employer, police said.

They were identified as James Pierce Kipling, 47, and his wife Jean Violet, 45, Silverton, parents of a 20-year-old son and 14-year-old daughter.

William A. Gregg, Mrs. Kipling's direct supervisor at the Winton Hill Technical Center of Procter & Gamble Co. told police he saw the fatal shots fired Monday.

Mrs. Kipling worked at the technical center as a stenographer and her husband was waiting for her in a car as she got off work. Gregg said he saw Kipling fire three shots as she was about to enter the car.

As Mrs. Kipling fell to the ground, her husband, an unemployed former mental patient, put the gun to his head and fired, Gregg recounted to police.

Mrs. Kipling was dead on arrival at General Hospital with two wounds in her chest and one in her head. Kipling died two hours later.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The wife of movie actor John Wayne, Pilar, gave birth to a daughter today at West Valley hospital. It was their third child.

The infant, 6 pounds, 14½ ounces, had not been named, a spokesman for the family said.

The baby was born on the 4th birthday of the couple's son, John Ethan. Their other child is Aissa, 10.

Wayne, 58, a perennial top draw at the movie boxoffice, has four grown children by a previous marriage. He has been married three times.

Consumption of distilled spirits in this country last year exceeded 290 million gallons, an increase of 5.8 per cent over the previous year.

Potters, Wellsville Matched Again In Sectional Play

3 Contests Slated On First Night

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

For the second straight year, rivals East Liverpool and Wellsville will clash in the Sectional Class AA Basketball Tournament which gets under way next Tuesday with a tripleheader in the Community Arena at Steubenville.

The 1966 drawings, held at the All-American Lanes in Steubenville Monday night, paired rival against rival in the three games scheduled for Tuesday.

THE TWO Steubenville teams, Big Red and Central, will launch the tournament Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. followed by another rivalry in Toronto and Jefferson Union at 8 p. m. The Potter - Wellsville game will start about 9:30.

East Liverpool eliminated Wellsville last year for the Potters first tournament win in five years but bowed to Wintersville in the semi-finals.

Wintersville, top seeded with an 11-1 record against Class AA competition, received first choice and took the bye at last night's drawings.

WINTERSVILLE is in the upper bracket and will meet the winner of the Big Red - Central game on Thursday at 7 p. m. The Potter - Wellsville winner and the Toronto-JU survivor will clash Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

With rivals paired in all three games, tournament officials expect a good turnout for opening night.

Coach Frank Chan represented East Liverpool in the drawing. The Potters already have two regular season victories over Wellsville.

THE POTTERS scored a 63-54 win at Wellsville then won by almost the same margin, 68-58 at Memorial Auditorium later in the season.

The Tigers will bring a 7-5 mark against Class AA foes and an overall 11-7 record into the tournament. East Liverpool stands at 9-8 for the season with one game remaining against Bellaire Saturday.

While Wintersville was top seeded, Toronto was next in line with Coach John Pape's team 8-4 in Class AA games.

OTHER records show, Big Red at 7-10, Central, 5-12 and Jefferson Union, 1-6.

Student tickets will be sold at the schools at 50 cents each while all adult general admission tickets will be sold at the Arena at $1. The only reserved seats are box seats and they will be available only through the box office of the Community Arena at $1.25 each.

THE WINNER of the Sectional tourney will advance to the District competition also scheduled for the Community Arena.

George Bates, Steubenville High School principal, was in charge of the drawings.

Bulldogs Capture Title By One Point

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Canton McKinley won accolades today as the state's best Class AA high school basketball team, shading unbeaten Lima Shawnee by one point.

The Bulldogs, 17-1, grabbed the No. 1 spot in the final Associated Press weekly ratings with 152 points. Lima, the only unbeaten quintet in the top ten, held the top spot for four consecutive weeks but dropped out in the final vote.

Dayton Chaminade, 17-1, was a close third on 140 points. Now it's up to the teams themselves to settle the issue in tournament competition.

In the small school ratings once-beaten Springboro, 17-1, copped the honors garnering 111 points, seven more than Rossford, 18-0, could muster.

In AA, Warren was fourth followed by Toledo Libbey, Cleveland East Tech, Elyria, Wellston, Columbus Linden and Columbus East, which moved in ousting Hamilton Garfield, a loser to Middletown last Friday.

Middletown, a traditional power that has been impressive lately, barely missed the charmed circle by finishing 11th with 26 points.

McKinley held the top spot the first two weeks of the poll and fell to second as Shawnee took over and held first for a month.

In Class A, Rittman, 18-0, was third and unbeaten Bridgeport, 17-0, fourth. Rounding out the top 10 were Sandusky St. Mary's, Dixie, Carey, Chillicothe Flaget, Fairland, a newcomer to the ratings, and Anna. Nelsonville, 10th last week, fell to 17th.

Barberton's 7-foot-1 Art Bosnak bucketed 41 points Saturday night against Wadsworth for a school record.

Granville, which suffered a 42-22 tournament loss to Fairbanks in sectional play last weekend, hit only 3 of 33 field goals.

Lima Shawnee's 78-54 triumph over Bath Friday was its 36th in a row in regular season competition and marked its second straight unbeaten campaign.

Boston Wins, 76ers Fall In NBA Race

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics came back to win, but the Philadelphia 76ers got "fouled up" and failed to keep pace with the Celtics in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division race.

Boston, trailing by eight points at halftime, came back to beat the Lakers, 115-108 at Los Angeles, while the 76ers lost to the Cincinnati Royals 113-107 at Dayton, Ohio, in the only league action Monday night.

The victory boosted the Celtics to 1½ games over second-place Philadelphia and kept them three games ahead of the Royals.

Philadelphia made 44 field goals to 42 for Cincinnati but could hit on only 19 of 33 foul shots, while the Royals connected on 29 of 37.

Cincinnati took an 85-82 lead on Adrian Smith's 55-foot field goal at the buzzer ending the third period and was never headed, although the game was tied three times in the final quarter.

After the 76ers made a bid to pull it out late in the game moving to within one point, 106-105, on Wilt Chamberlain's 21,000th NBA point, the Royals clinched it on a pair of foul shots by Smith and a three-point play by Oscar Robertson.

Robertson led all scorers with 40 points. Smith got 30. Chamberlain led the 76ers with 24 points.

Iowa Wins 91-82

Michigan's Big Ten Title Drive Slowed

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the Iowa basketball express runs on Coach Ralph Miller's timetable it can outdistance a Cazzie Russell.

The Hawkeyes followed the Miller script to the letter Monday night and upset 10th-ranked Michigan 91-82, sidetracking a 31-point effort by All-America Russell and stalling the Wolverines' Big Ten title drive.

"We figure we'll play our opponent even for 36 minutes of any game, then beat him in the other four," Miller said in a pre-season evaluation of his club's fast break-full court press style.

The Hawkeyes made a prophet of their pilot Monday night at Iowa City with a late surge that floored Michigan for the second time in 10 conference games. Leading 73-69 with a little less than seven minutes to play, Iowa outscored the Wolverines 16-6 in the next four minutes for a commanding 89-75 edge.

While Michigan's Big Ten lead dwindled to 1½ games over Illinois and Michigan State, who meet tonight, five other nationally ranked powers won handily.

Unbeaten, top-ranked Kentucky overwhelmed Mississippi 108-65 for its 22nd victory. No. 5 Vanderbilt walloped Georgia 117-97, No. 6 Kansas whipped Oklahoma 86-69, No. 8 Nebraska downed Colorado 70-63 and No. 9 Providence buried Loyola New Orleans 70-43.

Iowa remained unbeaten at home as sophomore Ben McGilmer dropped in 26 points and Chris Pervall added 20. The Hawkeyes lost three starters on fouls inside one minute during their decisive rally but reserves held off the Wolverines. Both Iowa and Michigan are 15-4 over-all.

Russell's sixth point in the game lifted his Big Ten career total to 1,000.

Kentucky raced to a 57-29 halftime lead at Oxford, Miss., and breezed to its 13th Southeastern Conference victory as Coach Adolph Rupp cleared his bench. All five Kentucky starters were in double figures, led by Louie Dampier's 20 points.

Clyde Lee netted 21 points, one more than soph Bo Wyenandt, as Vanderbilt set a school scoring record and raised its season mark to 20-3. The Commodores, who trail Kentucky by two games in the SEC, topped their previous point high — set earlier this season against Syracuse — by four. Ray Jeffords had 28 points for the visiting Bulldogs.

Bill Melchionni hit for 34 points as Villanova ripped Niagara 79-61. Dan Moeser, blanked in the first half, came through with 29 points — including five free throws in the last 47 seconds — in Tulane's 73-72 squeaker over Alabama.

Dave Schellhase's 29 points led Purdue over Indiana 77-68.

Ohio State upset Minnesota 101-98, Florida stunned Tennessee 67-63 and North Carolina State humbled Furman 130-77.

13 Players Are Elected To Grid Hall

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The Old Grey Eagle and Little Boy Blue, the Dutchman and Sleepy Jim, Pappy and a Mule are among the 13 players and a coach who have been elected to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Nine players from the modern era, Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf and four players from the pre-1910 era were elected to the Hall Monday and will be inducted later this year.

Three of the players, Charlie Conerly of Mississippi, Pete Pihos Indiana and Norm Van Brocklin of Oregon, went on to fame in the pros, Conerly being dubbed the Old Grey Eagle and Van Broklin the Dutchman.

Selection to the Hall, however, is based solely on collegiate performance.

Others from the post-1910 period were Albie Booth, Yale's Little Boy Blue; Dick Kazmaier of Princeton, Aaron Rosenberg of Southern California and Chuck Carney of Illinois—and two members of one of Notre Dame's most famous teams, Sleepy Jim Crowley and Rip Miller.

From the pre-1910 era, quarterback John McGovern of Minnesota, halfback John Houghton Hubbard of Amherst, center Frank Juhan of Sewanee and quarterback C. Everett Bacon of Wesleyan were selected.

In Council Action

Meter Purchase Plans Approved

Council approved legislation Monday night clearing the way for the administration to call for bids and buy 500 new parking meters, trading in an equal number of the worn-out devices now in service.

The resolution is designed primarily to allow replacement of the more than 300 Dual Parking Meter Co. machines remaining from an original installation of 475 made in September 1947.

It does not limit Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety-Service Director Robert Vodrey on the type of meter which they may purchase, acting as the Board of Control. The way is clear, therefore, to award a contract either for automatic or manual types.

The automatic, spring-activated, begin to function as soon as a coin is inserted. The manual requires the motorist to turn a handle to activate the mechanism after inserting a coin. The city now has both manual and automatic type is in service, but most are the automatic type.

The legislation provides the officials will determine the low net bid by subtracting the trade-in offer from each bidder's gross offer. It asserts that the city has "500 parking meters which are unfit for public use. . ."

Last night's action came as a climax to at least five years intermittent discussion of the need for new meters in which no final action was taken. The administration of former Mayor Merrill D. Hall received two sets of bids on meters, although the enabling legislation approved by Council allowed it to consider only the automatic types. Both sets of bids were rejected.

The legislation stipulates two ways in which the city may pay for the meters. The first alternate allows payment to be make in cash within 60 days. The other sets up the so-called "excess revenue" plan, calling for monthly installments.

In this setup, the city would pay to the manufacturer each month an amount representing the difference between the meter receipts for each month in 1966, as compared with the revenue in the same month of 1965. For instance, if the revenue in May 1966 hit $5,000 and the receipts in May 1965 were $4,000, the manufacturer would be paid $1,000.

The legislation contains an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect as soon as it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw. Each "emergency" ordinance must contain a clause explaining the reason why the ordinance should go into immediate effect. In this instance it says:

"Said emergency lies in the fact that the present parking meters are in such condition as to be unfit for public use and installation of new meters is required immediately in order to properly enforce present ordinances for the control of motor vehicle traffic and this action therefore is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, safety and welfare of said city and its citizens."

Councilmen Floyd Murray, Norman Bucher and Frank Duffy, the three Democrats, expressed concern over one of the alternate proposals to pay for the meters in cash by appropriating $25,000 out of income tax revenue. But in the end they voted for the legislation, allowing it to be approved unanimously.

The Democrats' objections were overcome when Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said he would pledge his word that the administration would not award a meter contract until it was agreeable to Council.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper told Council the alternative bidding procedures were set up in order that the administration might get comparative prices. He indicated some firms might submit lower prices for cash, compared with installment payments.

"If we can save $4,000 to $5,000 by paying cash, I feel that is the way it should be done," Councilman Robert W. Sample remarked. "The meters will pay for themselves in less than a year."

In connection with the $25,000 appropriation, Cooper pointed out state law requires the money for a purchase must be "on hand on in the process of collection" before a contract can be signed. The fact the $25,000 was appropriated does not mean necessarily that it will be spent, he added.

"I don't feel that the money for these meters should be taken out of the income tax fund," Murray said when the ordinance was ready for a final vote. "I want to go on record with that statement. If we spent the money for meters, it might force us to cut back on our street program this summer."

Bucher and Duffy said they agreed with Murray. Then Council approved a motion by Bucher that the specifications require that the meters be capable of accepting tokens as well as coins, following through on an agreement made last year between Council and the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

The ELMA is drafting a proposal under which its members would refund shoppers' parking fees by giving tokens with purchases.

Driver Hurt On Route 14

A Columbiana man was injured Monday night when his car rammed beneath a slow-moving tractor - trailer truck on Route 14, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Lucian T. Tyson, 26, of Columbiana was admitted to Salem City Hospital with severe lacerations of the knee and hand and bruises of the forehead received in the crash about 500 yards east of Washingtonville.

Officers said his 1960 sedan ran underneath the rig, operated by George Wallace, 26, of Pittsburgh, which was ascending a hill. There was extensive damage to the auto, the patrol said. The mishap is still under investigation.

Thomas Lee Edgell, 19, of Andrews St. was cited after his 1965 pickup truck ran into the rear of a 1962 convertible operated by William Arthur Montooth, 17, of Calcutta on Route 170 at the entrance of the St. Clair Plaza at 3:50 p. m.

Montooth was making a left turn into the plaza when his car was struck. There was moderate damage to both vehicles.

Repaving Continued In College St. Section

The block - long section of College St. between E. 3rd and E. 4th Sts. remained closed to traffic again today as workmen continued to level a 100-foot-long stretch that heaved up last week, apparently from the alternate thawing and frosting.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said he is not sure when the street will be reopened to traffic.

It was closed last Friday after the bricks were heaved up in a long stretch on the steep grade. The section must be leveled and the bricks relaid on a sand base before it can be opened, the director said.

$50 Reward Offered In Theft At Junk Yard

LISBON — An auto parts dealer near Columbiana is offering a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction "of a person or persons" believed to have stolen a transmission from his junk yard.

A. and N. Auto Parts on Route 14 reported to the sheriff's office a four-speed transmission for a 1963 Chevrolet apparently was taken Monday night from the premises.

Board To Buy 2 Typewriters

LISBON — The County Board of Education voted Monday night to buy two new electric typewriters for the school board's office at a total price of $895.

The board agreed to buy models produced by the International Business Machines Corp. for use by two secretaries. A trade-in of $495 will be allowed for two machines now in use, making the net price of the new devices $400.

In other action, the board authorized a group of local women to grade state survey tests of 1,100 students in grades 4 and 6 in all rural school districts at 10 cents per test. A commercial grading firm had offered to score the examinations at 27 cents each.

All rural schools are scheduled to be closed Friday because of a workshop at Beaver Local School arranged by the Columbiana County Education Association.

Fred Lohman, attendance officer, reported that he drove a total of 907 miles during January, making 79 calls — 48 at schools and 31 at homes.

Supt. James McBride reported on the American Association of School Administrators meeting which he and Allan Chamberlin attended last week in Atlantic City.

Dance Plans Set By Kent Center. Tour Scheduled

Final plans have been made for a dance to be held by Kent State Academic Center students Friday night from 9 to 12 at the Elks Lodge ballroom.

Mike Bridge, major events chairman, said "The Uncalled Four" of Salem will provide music for the event. Local high school seniors are invited to the dance for which tickets are available at the Kent offices at the IBOP Building or at the door that night.

Registration is being held for a planned New York theater tour March 18-23 by the students.

The tour will include a bus trip to New York from the Warren Academic Center, stay at the Picadilly Hotel, visits throughout New York sites, television studies and theaters, United Nations and return to the Warren center.

Registration for the $71 trip may be made with John Hedrick, Center director, or Don Brown, Student Senate president.

City To Continue Surfacing Work

Council went on record Monday night committing the city to continue the annual summer low-cost street surfacing program, under which the municipality pays over 50 per cent of the cost of each project out of income tax revenue.

Council acted after Councilman Floyd Murray, chairman of the street committee, commented that official action should be taken in order to advise the public.

"I feel we should let the public know as quickly as possible if the program is to be continued in order that property owners can begin to make plans to participate," Murray said. He added that petitions for requesting the work should be made available at the office of Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey.

Murray included a stipulation that the city will continue to apply seal coats free of cost two years after a street has been given its initial surfacing. Council approved his suggestion, which included a recommendation that the finance committee earmark funds for the 1966 program.

There are some 200 grizzly bears in Yellowstone National Park, but unlike the black bears that beg for food along the highways, they are rarely seen by tourists.

Fifth Suit Is Filed

Atlanta, Milwaukee Fight Becomes More Complicated

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A ruling was promised today on Wisconsin's bid to look at baseball's financial books while the legal battle between Atlanta and Milwaukee for possession of the Braves moved into a third courtroom arena in Texas.

Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller, hearing Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball and the Braves, said he would make his decision today whether to open the financial ledgers that baseball attorneys argued were trade secrets.

In Houston, Tex., Atlanta authorities went into federal court Monday to ask it to decide whether Georgia or Wisconsin court orders took precedence in the increasingly complicated legal tug-of-war.

It was the fifth suit filed in the battle which now involves three cities. With the antitrust trial itself approaching next week, this is the legal scorecard to date:

— Atlanta has won an injunction in Fulton County, Ga., Superior Court ordering the Braves to honor their 25-year contract to play home games in Atlanta starting with the 1966 season opener just seven weeks away.

— Roller has told the Braves to be prepared to play in Milwaukee this season and the National League to make plans to add an 11th team for Milwaukee through expansion in case either should be required in the eventual verdict. The suit goes to trial in the state court next Monday.

— The city of Atlanta and the Fulton County Recreation Authority, which operates Atlanta's new stadium, asked the U.S. District Court at Houston Monday for an injunction to block the Astros and the other National League teams from complying with any court order that might send the Braves back to Milwaukee.

— Another antitrust suit, filed last summer by Milwaukee County in U.S. District Court at Milwaukee, has lain largely dormant while the second suit has been pursued in Wisconsin state courts.

— Also pending since last summer in the federal court in Milwaukee — and outdated now — is the Braves' own suit asking for an order to prevent Wisconsin from filing the antitrust suits since begun. The county, by filing countercharges in its reply to the Braves' suit, converted it into a third antitrust action.

Wisconsin lawyers asked Roller Monday for the court order for permission to inspect the 10 National League clubs' profit-and-loss records. They argued "it is very important that the court know the health of all teams in the National League . . . so the court can know whether the Braves were put upon in Milwaukee."

Braves' attorney Earl T. Jinkinson contended that the records were "sensitive," "trade secrets" and "matters never divulged to anyone."

If Wisconsin wins its antitrust suit, it is expected to seek enforcement of the Milwaukee decision in courts in the home states of other National League teams through the U.S. Constitution's clause requiring a state to give "full faith and credit" to the court rulings of other states.

Atlanta sought to block that move Monday with the suit in Houston asking Federal Judge James Noel for an injunction to stop the other teams from obeying any court order to keep the Braves in Milwaukee.

St. Aloysius won 20-10 with J. Pusiteri and J. Michaels scoring six each for the winners. Simmons led Boyce with five.

The loss left Boyce tied with St. Stephen's with 6-1 records and two weeks remaining in the league.

St. Stephen's scored a 13-10 victory over Wellsville Central Methodist. Salisbury's four points paced the winners while R. Maurer accounted for nine of Wellsville's 10 points.

First Nazarene whipped Glenmoor U. P., 18-9 with Brant leading the way with five points. R. House had four for the losers.

Oakland Free Methodist topped Grace U. P., 26-13 as Bill Cox poured in 11 points. Banfield had nine of his team's 13 points.

Chester Nazarene was an 18-3 winner over Penn Ave. Methodist as M. Cashdollar's eight points sparked the attack for Chester.

In the Collegiate Division, Chester Christian continued undefeated with a 38-3 win over Second U. P. Staley's 20 point barrage led the winners.

Chester First Methodist scored an 18-6 win over First Methodist. Forsythe hit five points for Chester and D. Fitzgerald had four for the losers.

Calvary Methodist edged First Church of Christ, 30-28. J. Marsh led all scorers in games Saturday with a 19-point effort for Calvary while Kinsey fired in 16 points for the losing quint.

LaCrott got off to a quick start to trip Trinity U. P., 20-10. Densmore found the range for 10 points while Standley led Trinity with three.

The final game found First U. P. outlasting St. John's for a 19-15 verdict. Alison paced the First U. P. five with seven points while Travis added six. Cunningham dropped in 10 points for St. John's.

Cassius Plans Apology To Save Chicago Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — The draft board has cleared the way for Cassius Clay to meet Ernie Terrell for the heavyweight championship but now Clay must clear another serious hurdle threatening the fight by apologizing for what the Illinois governor termed his "unpatriotic remarks."

A final verdict on the scheduled March 29 bout will not come until Friday when Clay is scheduled to fly from his Miami training quarters and apologize for remarks attributed to him following his reclassification to 1-A by the Louisville draft board last week.

The latest threat to the often-threatened fight came with a sudden explosion Monday by Illinois officials as Gov. Otto Kerner, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and other political figures urged the Illinois Athletic Commission to call off the fight.

Kerner asked the commission to reconsider its decision to license the bout in light of what he called Clay's "unpatriotic remarks."

At a news conference in Springfield, Ill., Kerner termed Clay's statements "disgusting."

Daley hopped in, saying, "I had hopes the fight wouldn't be held in Chicago and I'm confident the commissioners will take the proper action . . . and I am sure they will respond to public opinion all over the state and the city.

"The record here is such that we could well do without the fight."

With the furor growing, commission chairman Joe Triner then announced that Clay had called him from Miami and told him he would apologize to the governor, the commission and to the public "for having his big mouth make the statements that he did."

Shortly after that the news came from the chairman of Clay's draft board in Louisville that Clay definitely would not be called for military service before the March 29 date for the fight.

The board last Friday changed Clay's classification from 1-Y to 1-A, making him eligible for the draft. That apparently rankled Clay, who was quoted as saying:

"I am a member of the Black Muslims, and we don't go to no wars unless they're declared by Allah himself. I don't have no personal quarrel with those Viet Congs."

Clay also was quoted as saying that through the taxes collected on every fight he has the government picks up enough money to buy three jets.

The Pentagon corrected Clay, pointing out that the price of jet planes range from $2.5 million to $10 million.

Where the latest squabble left the fight remained somewhat unclear despite the fact that Clay said he was ready to apologize.

Triner, asked if he believed political pressure brought throughout the state might force the license to be revoked, said, "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it." He added:

"Gov. Kerner told me that he would be satisfied with an apology from Clay. So as of now, the fight hasn't been disapproved and it remains status quo."

Bethlehem Joins In $1 Increase On Boiler Plate

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 2 steel producer, has joined other steel companies in raising the price of boiler plate $4 a ton.

A Bethlehem spokesman said the increase covers only a small percentage of all its teel sales.

Last week, United States Steel Corp., Lukens Steel Co., and the Allan Wood Steel Co., announced a similar price hike. Involved is plate used for boilers, large tanks and liquified petroleum containers.

Other steel manufacturers such as the Kaiser Steel Corp., Phoenix Steel Corp., and Inland Steel Co., have said they were studying the move.

Bethlehem did not specify any reason for the increase. Earlier, Lukens said it was acting because of rising costs of the manganese used in making the plates. Steel industry sources have indicated the boiler plate is in short supply.

The price boost apparently is within the government's guideline limitations of 3.2 per cent on wage and price increases.

Oswald Weapons Turned Over To U.S. Government

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Estes awarded permanent custody of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald's weapons to the government Monday.

The weapons are a 6.5mm foreign rifle used to kill President John F. Kennedy and a pistol with which Dallas policeman J.D. Tippit was slain as he tried to arrest Oswald.

John J. King, Denver oilman claimed ownership of the weapons. King said he paid Marina Oswald Porter, widow of the assassin, $10,000 for the rifle and pistol, and promised to pay her $35,000 more.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Tim Timmins argued successfully that Oswald ordered the guns by mail under the name of "A. Hidell" and thus never became the legal owner because this violated the Federal Firearms Act.

Officials have said they want the weapons placed in the National Archieves in Washington.

The four U.S. cities which lead in automobile production are Detroit and Flint, Mich., St. Louis, Mo., and Hamtramack, Mich.

Potters, Wellsville Matched Again In Sectional Play

3 Contests Slated On First Night

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

For the second straight year, rivals East Liverpool and Wellsville will clash in the Sectional Class AA Basketball Tournament which gets under way next Tuesday with a tripleheader in the Community Arena at Steubenville.

The 1966 drawings, held at the All-American Lanes in Steubenville Monday night, paired rival against rival in the three games scheduled for Tuesday.

THE TWO Steubenville teams, Big Red and Central, will launch the tournament Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. followed by another rivalry in Toronto and Jefferson Union at 8 p. m. The Potter - Wellsville game will start about 9:30.

East Liverpool eliminated Wellsville last year for the Potters first tournament win in five years but bowed to Wintersville in the semi-finals.

Wintersville, top seeded with an 11-1 record against Class AA competition, received first choice and took the bye at last night's drawings.

WINTERSVILLE is in the upper bracket and will meet the winner of the Big Red - Central game on Thursday at 7 p. m. The Potter - Wellsville winner and the Toronto-JU survivor will clash Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

With rivals paired in all three games, tournament officials expect a good turnout for opening night.

Coach Frank Chan represented East Liverpool in the drawing. The Potters already have two regular season victories over Wellsville.

THE POTTERS scored a 63-54 win at Wellsville then won by almost the same margin, 68-58 at Memorial Auditorium later in the season.

The Tigers will bring a 7-5 mark against Class AA foes and an overall 11-7 record into the tournament. East Liverpool stands at 9-8 for the season with one game remaining against Bellaire Saturday.

While Wintersville was top seeded, Toronto was next in line with Coach John Pape's team 8-4 in Class AA games.

OTHER records show, Big Red at 7-10, Central, 5-12 and Jefferson Union, 1-6.

Student tickets will be sold at the schools at 50 cents each while all adult general admission tickets will be sold at the Arena at $1. The only reserved seats are box seats and they will be available only through the box office of the Community Arena at $1.25 each.

THE WINNER of the Sectional tourney will advance to the District competition also scheduled for the Community Arena.

Canton McKinley Edges Lima In Final Vote

Bulldogs Capture Title By One Point

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Canton McKinley won accolades today as the state's best Class AA high school basketball team, shading unbeaten Lima Shawnee by one point.

The Bulldogs, 17-1, grabbed the No. 1 spot in the final Associated Press weekly ratings with 152 points. Lima, the only unbeaten quintet in the top ten, held the top spot for four consecutive weeks but dropped out in the final vote.

Dayton Chaminade, 17-1, was ton Garfield 19; Columbus West a close third on 140 points. Now 18; Sandusky 17; Youngstown it's up to the teams themselves Rayen 16; Cincinnati Finneyto settle the issue in tourna- town and Cleveland Adams 13; ment competition.

In the small school ratings, once-beaten Springboro, 17-1, copped the honors garnering 111 points, seven more than Rossford, 18-0, could muster.

In AA, Warren was fourth followed by Toledo Libbey, Cleveland East Tech, Elyria, Wellston, Columbus Linden and Columbus East, which moved in ousting Hamilton Garfield, a loser to Middletown last Friday.

Middletown, a traditional power that has been impressive lately, barely missed the charmed circle by finishing 11th with 26 points.

McKinley held the top spot the first two weeks of the poll and fell to second as Shawnee took over and held first for a month.

In Class A, Rittman, 18-0, was third and unbeaten Bridgeport, 17-0, fourth. Rounding out the top 10 were Sandusky St. Mary's, Dixie, Carey, Chillicothe Flaget, Fairland, a newcomer to the ratings, and Anna. Nelsonville, 10th last week, fell to 17th.

Barberton's 7-foot-1 Art Bosnak bucketed 41 points Saturday night against Wadsworth for a school record.

Granville, which suffered a 42-22 tournament loss to Fairbanks in sectional play last weekend, hit only 3 of 33 field goals.

Lima Shawnee's 78-54 triumph over Bath Friday was its 36th in a row in regular season competition and marked its second straight unbeaten campaign.

Boston Wins, 76ers Fall In NBA Race

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics came back to win, but the Philadelphia 76ers got "fouled up" and failed to keep pace with the Celtics in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division race.

Boston, trailing by eight points at halftime, came back to beat the Lakers, 115-108 at Los Angeles, while the 76ers lost to the Cincinnati Royals 113-107 at Dayton, Ohio, in the only league action Monday night.

The victory boosted the Celtics to 1½ games over second-place Philadelphia and kept them three games ahead of the Royals.

Philadelphia made 44 field goals to 42 for Cincinnati but could hit on only 19 of 33 foul shots, while the Royals connected on 29 of 37.

Cincinnati took an 85-82 lead on Adrian Smith's 55-foot field goal at the buzzer ending the third period and was never headed, although the game was tied three times in the final quarter.

After the 76ers made a bid to pull it out late in the game moving to within one point, 106-105, on Wilt Chamberlain's 21,000th NBA point, the Royals clinched it on a pair of foul shots by Smith and a three-point play by Oscar Robertson.

Robertson led all scorers with 40 points. Smith got 30. Chamberlain led the 76ers with 24 points.

Iowa Wins 91-82

Michigan's Big Ten Title Drive Slowed

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the Iowa basketball express runs on Coach Ralph Miller's timetable it can outdistance a Cazzie Russell.

The Hawkeyes followed the Miller script to the letter Monday night and upset 10th-ranked Michigan 91-82, sidetracking a 31-point effort by All-America Russell and stalling the Wolverines' Big Ten title drive.

"We figure we'll play our opponent even for 36 minutes of any game, then beat him in the other four," Miller said in a pre-season evaluation of his club's fast break-full court press style.

The Hawkeyes made a prophet of their pilot Monday night at Iowa City with a late surge that floored Michigan for the second time in 10 conference games. Leading 73-69 with a little less than seven minutes to play, Iowa outscored the Wolverines 16-6 in the next four minutes for a commanding 89-75 edge.

While Michigan's Big Ten lead dwindled to 1½ games over Illinois and Michigan State, who meet tonight, five other nationally ranked powers won handily.

Unbeaten, top-ranked Kentucky overwhelmed Mississippi 108-65 for its 22nd victory. No. 5 Vanderbilt walloped Georgia 117-97, No. 6 Kansas whipped Oklahoma 86-69, No. 8 Nebraska downed Colorado 70-63 and No. 9 Providence buried Loyola New Orleans 70-43.

Iowa remained unbeaten at home as sophomore Ben McGilmer dropped in 26 points and Chris Pervall added 20. The Hawkeyes lost three starters on fouls inside one minute during their decisive rally but reserves held off the Wolverines. Both Iowa and Michigan are 15-4 over-all.

Russell's sixth point in the game lifted his Big Ten career total to 1,000.

Kentucky raced to a 57-29 halftime lead at Oxford, Miss., and breezed to its 13th Southeastern Conference victory as Coach Adolph Rupp cleared his bench. All five Kentucky starters were in double figures, led by Louie Dampier's 20 points.

Clyde Lee netted 21 points, one more than soph Bo Wyenandt, as Vanderbilt set a school scoring record and raised its season mark to 20-3. The Commodores, who trail Kentucky by two games in the SEC, topped their previous point high — set earlier this season against Syracuse — by four. Ray Jeffords had 28 points for the visiting Bulldogs.

Bill Melchionni hit for 34 points as Villanova ripped Niagara 79-61. Dan Moeser blanked in the first half, came through with 29 points — including five free throws in the last 47 seconds — in Tulane's 73-72 squeaker over Alabama.

Dave Schellhase's 29 points led Purdue over Indiana 77-68.

Ohio State upset Minnesota 101-98, Florida stunned Tennessee 67-63 and North Carolina State humbled Furman 130-77.

4 Regular Season Games On Tap

4 District Teams Launch Tournament Play Tonight

Sectional tournament contests plus four regular season games are on tap tonight for district teams.

Beaver Local takes a 12-6 record into tonight's Class AA Sectional game at South High Fieldhouse where the Beavers tangle with Struthers at 9. Struthers has been successful in seven games this season while losing 11.

THE BEAVER - Struthers contest is one of three on tonight's card at Youngstown. In the opener at 6:30, Youngstown Ursuline meets Youngstown Chaney while Poland and Boardman meet at 7:45.

If Beaver Local survives its first test, Coach Lloyd Stockdale's forces will meet the winner of the Poland - Boardman game Saturday night at 8:45.

IN THE Class AA Sectional at Struthers Monday night, Salem survived its first test with a 64-60 win over Youngstown Wilson while Austintown Fitch defeated Youngstown South, 87-74.

The Class A Sectional at Struthers tonight finds three local teams involved when Lisbon meets Southern Local at 8 p. m. and Greenford and Crestview clash at 9:30. The first game at 6:30 has Sebring meeting Lowellville.

FOUR REGULAR season games are listed tonight headed by Weirton's appearance at Oak Glen where the Golden Bears will attempt to avenge a loss earlier in the season at Weirton.

Other games are in Pennsylvania with Midland closing its season at home against New Brighton, while Western Beaver entertains Beaver in its finale and Center visits South Side. All three Pennsylvania teams are out of the running in their respective sections.

Wednesday night's schedule finds Stanton Local making its tourney bid against Adena at 8:30 in the Community Arena at Steubenville.

Win Streak Broken

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — British Columbia beat California 11-8 Monday in rugby, ending a streak of 25 straight victories for the Bears in college competition.

13 Players Are Elected To Grid Hall

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The Old Grey Eagle and Little Boy Blue, the Dutchman and Sleepy Jim, Pappy and a Mule are among the 13 players and a coach who have been elected to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Nine players from the modern era, Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf and four players from the pre-1910 era were elected to the Hall Monday and will be inducted later this year.

Three of the players, Charlie Conerly of Mississippi, Pete Pihos Indiana and Norm Van Brocklin of Oregon, went on to fame in the pros. Conerly being dubbed the Old Grey Eagle and Van Broklin the Dutchman.

Selection to the Hall, however, is based solely on collegiate performance.

Others from the post-1910 period were Albie Booth, Yale's Little Boy Blue; Dick Kazmaier of Princeton, Aaron Rosenberg of Southern California and Chuck Carney of Illinois—and two members of one of Notre Dame's most famous teams, Sleepy Jim Crowley and Rip Miller.

From the pre-1910 era, quarterback John McGovern of Minnesota, halfback John Houghton Hubbard of Amherst, center Frank Juhan of Sewanee and quarterback C. Everett Bacon of Wesleyan were selected.

To Honor Golfers

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Ken Venturi and Dave Marr are among a number of golfers to be honored tonight at the 15th annual dinner of the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association.

Fifth Suit Is Filed

Atlanta, Milwaukee Fight Becomes More Complicated

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A ruling was promised today on Wisconsin's bid to look at baseball's financial books while the legal battle between Atlanta and Milwaukee for possession of the Braves moved into a third courtroom arena in Texas.

Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller, hearing Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball and the Braves, said he would make his decision today whether to open the financial ledgers that baseball attorneys argued were trade secrets.

In Houston, Tex., Atlanta authorities went into federal court Monday to ask it to decide whether Georgia or Wisconsin court orders took precedence in the increasingly complicated legal tug-of-war.

It was the fifth suit filed in the battle which now involves three cities. With the antitrust trial itself approaching next week, this is the legal scorecard to date:

— Atlanta has won an injunction in Fulton County, Ga., Superior Court ordering the Braves to honor their 25-year contract to play home games in Atlanta starting with the 1966 season opener just seven weeks away.

— Roller has told the Braves to be prepared to play in Milwaukee this season and the National League to make plans to add an 11th team for Milwaukee through expansion in case either should be required in the eventual verdict. The suit goes to trial in the state court next Monday.

— The city of Atlanta and the Fulton County Recreation Authority, which operates Atlanta's new stadium, asked the U.S. District Court at Houston Monday for an injunction to block the Astros and the other National League teams from complying with any court order that might send the Braves back to Milwaukee.

— Another antitrust suit, filed last summer by Milwaukee County in U.S. District Court at Milwaukee, has lain largely dormant while the second suit has been pursued in Wisconsin state courts.

— Also pending since last summer in the federal court in Milwaukee — and outdated now — is the Braves' own suit asking for an order to prevent Wisconsin from filing the antitrust suits since begun. The county, by filing countercharges in its reply to the Braves' suit, converted it into a third antitrust action.

Wisconsin lawyers asked Roller Monday for the court order for permission to inspect the 10 National League clubs' profit-and-loss records. They argued "it is very important that the court know the health of all teams in the National League . . . so the court can know whether the Braves were put upon in Milwaukee."

Braves' attorney Earl T. Jinkinson contended that the records were "sensitive," "trade secrets" and "matters never divulged to anyone."

If Wisconsin wins its antitrust suit, it is expected to seek enforcement of the Milwaukee decision in courts in the home states of other National League teams through the U.S. Constitution's clause requiring a state to give "full faith and credit" to the court rulings of other states.

Atlanta sought to block that move Monday with the suit in Houston asking Federal Judge James Noel for an injunction to stop the other teams from obeying any court order to keep the Braves in Milwaukee.

Boyce Drops First Church League Game

St. Aloysius handed Boyce Methodist its first setback in the Inter-Collegiate Division of the YMPA Church League Saturday.

St. Aloysius won 20-10 with J. Pusiteri and J. Michaels scoring six each for the winners. Simmons led Boyce with five.

The loss left Boyce tied with St. Stephen's with 6-1 records and two weeks remaining in the league.

St. Stephen's scored a 13-10 victory over Wellsville Central Methodist. Salisbury's four points paced the winners while R. Maurer accounted for nine of Wellsville's 10 points.

First Nazarene whipped Glenmoor U. P., 18-9 with Brant leading the way with five points. R. House had four for the losers.

Oakland Free Methodist topped Grace U. P., 26-13 as Bill Cox poured in 11 points. Banfield had nine of his team's 13 points.

Chester Nazarene was an 18-3 winner over Penn Ave. Methodist as M. Cashdollar's eight points sparked the attack for Chester.

In the Collegiate Division, Chester Christian continued undefeated with a 38-3 win over Second U. P. Staley's 20 point barrage led the winners.

Chester First Methodist scored an 18-6 win over First Methodist. Forsythe hit five points for Chester and D. Fitzgerald had four for the losers.

Calvary Methodist edged First Church of Christ, 30-28. J. Marsh led all scorers in games Saturday with a 19-point effort for Calvary while Kinsey fired in 16 points for the losing quint.

LaCroft got off to a quick start to trip Trinity U. P., 20-10. Densmore found the range for 10 points while Standley led Trinity with three.

The final game found First U. P. outlasting St. John's for a 19-15 verdict. Alison paced the First U. P. five with seven points while Travis added six. Cunningham dropped in 10 points for St. John's.

Wildcats Remain No. 1 In Nation

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The undefeated Kentucky Wildcats maintained their stranglehold on first place in the Associated Press major-college basketball poll today while Providence, the only loser among the ranking teams last week, dropped to ninth.

The Wildcats, 21-0, collected 38 votes for the top position in the voting by a special panel of 40 regional experts based on games through last Saturday.

Fourth-ranked Chicago Loyola and seventh-ranked St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania kept Kentucky from completing a clean sweep, each collecting one first-place vote.

Kentucky had 396 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. There was no change in the next four positions as Duke held second followed by Texas Western, Chicago Loyola and Vanderbilt.

Kentucky won twice last week, defeating Alabama 90-67 and Mississippi State 73-69. Duke lifted its record to 19-2 by beating South Carolina 41-38 and Maryland, 74-69.

The Top Ten, with season's records through games of Sat., Feb. 19, and total points:

1. Kentucky	21-0	396
2. Duke	19-2	348
3. Texas Western	20-0	305
4. Chicago Loyola	20-2	264
5. Vanderbilt	19-3	208
6. Kansas	18-3	206
7. St. Joseph's, Pa	19-4	126

10. Michigan	14-5	65

Cassius Plans Apology To Save Chicago Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — The draft board has cleared the way for Cassius Clay to meet Ernie Terrell for the heavyweight championship but now Clay must clear another serious hurdle threatening the fight by apologizing for what the Illinois governor termed his "unpatriotic remarks."

A final verdict on the scheduled March 29 bout will not come until Friday when Clay is scheduled to fly from his Miami training quarters and apologize for remarks attributed to him following his reclassification to 1-A by the Louisville draft board last week.

The latest threat to the often-threatened fight came with a sudden explosion Monday by Illinois officials as Gov. Otto Kerner, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and other political figures urged the Illinois Athletic Commission to call off the fight.

Kerner asked the commission to reconsider its decision to license the bout in light of what he called Clay's "unpatriotic remarks."

At a news conference in Springfield, Ill., Kerner termed Clay's statements "disgusting."

Daley hopped in, saying, "I had hopes the fight wouldn't be held in Chicago and I'm confident the commissioners will take the proper action . . . and I am sure they will respond to public opinion all over the state and the city.

"The record here is such that we could well do without the fight."

With the furor growing, commission chairman Joe Triner then announced that Clay had called him from Miami and told him he would apologize to the governor, the commission and to the public "for having his big mouth make the statements that he did."

Shortly after that the news came from the chairman of Clay's draft board in Louisville that Clay definitely would not be called for military service before the March 29 date for the fight.

The board last Friday changed Clay's classification from 1-Y to 1-A, making him eligible for the draft. That apparently rankled Clay, who was quoted as saying:

"I am a member of the Black Muslims, and we don't go to no wars unless they're declared by Allah himself. I don't have no personal quarrel with those Viet Congs."

Clay also was quoted as saying that through the taxes collected on every fight he has the government picks up enough money to buy three jets.

The Pentagon corrected Clay, pointing out that the price of jet planes range from $2.5 million to $10 million.

Where the latest squabble left the fight remained somewhat unclear despite the fact that Clay said he was ready to apologize.

Triner, asked if he believed political pressure brought throughout the state might force the license to be revoked, said, "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it." He added:

"Gov. Kerner told me that he would be satisfied with an apology from Clay. So as of now, the fight hasn't been disapproved and it remains status quo."

Bethlehem Joins In $4 Increase On Boiler Plate

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 2 steel producer, has joined other steel companies in raising the price of boiler plate $4 a ton.

The boost, announced Monday, is effective with shipments Wednesday.

A Bethlehem spokesman said the increase covers only a small percentage of all its teel sales.

Last week, United States Steel Corp., Lukens Steel Co., and the Allan Wood Steel Co., announced a similar price hike. Involved is plate used for boilers, large tanks and liquified petroleum containers.

Other steel manufacturers such as the Kaiser Steel Corp., Phoenix Steel Corp., and Inland Steel Co., have said they were studying the move.

Bethlehem did not specify any reason for the increase. Earlier, Lukens said it was acting because of rising costs of the manganese used in making the plates. Steel industry sources have indicated the boiler plate is in short supply.

The price boost apparently is within the government's guideline limitations of 3.2 per cent on wage and price increases.

Oswald Weapons Turned Over To U.S. Government

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Estes awarded permanent custody of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald's weapons to the government Monday.

The weapons are a 6.5mm foreign rifle used to kill President John F. Kennedy and a pistol with which Dallas policeman J.D. Tippit was slain as he tried to arrest Oswald.

John J. King, Denver oilman claimed ownership of the weapons. King said he paid Marina Oswald Porter, widow of the assassin, $10,000 for the rifle and pistol, and promised to pay her $35,000 more.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Tim Timmins argued successfully that Oswald ordered the guns by mail under the name of "A. Hidell" and thus never became the legal owner because this violated the Federal Firearms Act.

Officials have said they want the weapons placed in the National Archieves in Washington.

The four U.S. cities which lead in automobile production are Detroit and Flint, Mich., St. Louis, Mo., and Hamtramack, Mich.

A Junior Editors Quiz About ISLANDS

QUESTION: How do islands rise out of the sea?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Most new sea islands have been created by volcanoes under the water. Masses of molten rock from the hot places under the earth's crust find weak places where there are fissures or cracks. Suddenly, as in (1) a mass of such hot lava breaks through. It makes a pile of material, and as more underwater eruptions occur, the pile rises higher (2). At last, the mass is close to the surface (3). If more lava flows up, there is a tremendous explosion as tons of hot rock burst through the water, creating clouds of hissing steam (4). Now a new island appears to float on the surface (5) though actually it is the top of a mountain. Through the action of wind and rain, soil is formed. Plant seeds from the upper air drift down and take root. A few animals may be carried in on floating debris. Sometimes such an island will sink slightly below the surface. Then coral will grow around its edge and reach up to the surface, leading to a circular island called an atoll. Coconuts will be thrown by storms on such islands, and taking root, will grow to trees giving refreshing drink and food as well as shade. Many of the romantic South Seas islands have been formed in one or the other of these ways. The Hawaiian Islands are probably crests of volcanoes risen from the sea.

★ ★ ★

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean metal tools that have become rusty?

A. — Soak these tools for several hours in a saturated solution of ammonium citrate, then rub the rust off with a wire brush or steel wool. Or, combine one cup of lye, a half-cup of washing soda, one quart of water, and a half -teaspoonful of potassium permanganate, and soak and scrub the tools as with the other solution.

Q. — How can I prevent eggs from bursting while boiling them?

A. — If one end of each egg is pricked with a needle before placing it in the water, there will be no bursting.

Q. — How can I remove stains from my mattresses?

A. — Place the mattresses in the sun, covering the stained areas with a thick paste of starch and cold water. After an hour or so, or when the paste has dried, rub or brush off. Most of the stains should have vanished, but if they're still too apparent, repeat the routine.

Q. — How can I clean nickel satisfactorily?

A. — Apply kerosene and whiting, then polish with a dry flannel cloth. Ordinary baking soda is also a good nickel polish.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: When waxing floors, I slip a plastic bag over my sponge mop, pin a soft piece of rag over this, and then apply the wax.

The cloth doesn't soak up too much wax, as the plastic bag prevents this, and I have no mop to wash either.

I just throw away the rag and plastic bag after I have finished.

HAZEL.

Well, glory be! Orchids to you.

That's just about the hint of the year. Thanks millions.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have always had trouble getting my graham cracker pie crusts to hold together.

Today I placed a small plastic bag over my hand, and was able to press the crust very hard wthout pulling the crumbs up, which usually happens when I use my bare hand.

PAT HOLTMAN

And no gooey hands either, eh?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use elastic sewing thread to sew on that last button at the bottom of a narrow, button-down-the-front dress.

The elastic allows enough stretch so that the button won't pop off or tear the buttonhole.

DEAR HELOISE: To encourage our two children to take good baths and showers (not to just hop into the tub and back out as soon as they were wet!), I made a caddy to hang on the end of the shower rod.

I cut up an old plastic shower curtain, and made one row of pockets on it, long enough to hang down almost to the tub. (Looks like one lengthwise strip of a shoe bag.)

(Shampoo, bath oil, a back scrubber, manicure equipment, talcum powder, scouring powder to encourage them to clean the tub) etc., are put in the pockets so they are easily available.

The kids love the idea. It's all right at their finger tips.

MRS. LEIGH.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a baby of stroller-age who loves being outside, take advantage of this when taking clothes from the line.

Clip a large cash-and-carry-bag on back of baby's stroller, and drop those socks, handkerchiefs, bath cloths, shoe strings, etc., into it as you unpin them.

These pieces were forever getting dropped until I started doing this.

If you're too busy to sort the clothes when you get back in the house, just put the bag nearby for a handy pair of socks, or a quickly needed bath cloth, etc.

MOTHER OF SIX.

DEAR HELOISE: I save the wire clips safety pins come on, and use them to string tiny buttons, which are then easily found in my sewing box.

MRS. ETHEL McFARLAND.

LETTER OF LOVE

DEAR HELOISE: While my son was in the hospital, and my daughter-in-law traveled 30 miles each day to visit him, I baby-sat with my 2-year-old granddaughter who cries whenever she is left with anyone. I was able to quiet her by keeping her parents' picture on display. When nap time came, she held their picture and went to sleep—like the baby she is.

GRANDMA HALL.

If you have a dishwasher and don't put your pans in the dishwasher, try putting a small bath towel on your drainboard and as you wash down on the towel.

The towel will absorb the moisture and also prevent marring your plastic drainboard, or making aluminum marks on a tile one. (Whether you have a dishwasher or not, you are still protecting your counter.)

When I start cooking supper, I lay a folded towel on the drainboard right then. As each pan is used, I swish it with my little brush (which has been dipped in detergent), scald it under the faucet, and turn it upside down on the towel.

By the time the dishes are done, the pans are dry, and I put the towel on a rack to dry before the netx meal.

HELOISE.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Washington Had Trouble Getting Men

More and more young men are being drafted into the Armed Services to defend our nation and to help other nations defend their liberties. While George Washington was leading the Continental Army in the American Revolution he did not have such a way to raise and recruit his army. He had to depend on volunteers. There was no strong central government then in what later became the United States of America. By August, 1776, the Continental Army had 16,000 men against the British army of 24,000. In November of that year the American army numbered 4,000 against the British army of 26,900. By December the American army had only 3,300 solid to face 27,700 British soldiers in all.

Dr. Garry Myers

The smallness of the Coninental Army and its rapid drop in numbers resulted from the way it was recruited.

TODAY OUR central government drafts men and tells them how long to serve. The Continental Army did not have the power to draft soldiers. It did not have the power to tax the people for money to pay the soldiers, to supply them with arms and munitions, or for food, clothing and other things to carry on a war.

The Continental Congress had to rely upon the states to supply their share according to their population. Each state could merely ask each community to furnish its share. It was only voluntary enlistment and each soldier chose the length of time he would serve — "from three months to three years or for the duration of the war."

Right after Concord and Bunker Hill there was enthusiastic enlistment, though most of these volunteers signed up for short periods. When their time was up they went home. Then it became harder and harder to get men to volunteer and most of them wanted to serve only in their own states.

As the war dragged on, Virginia began drafting soldiers. Some other states followed, but there still was troubles as men could hire substitutes instead of serving themselves.

ENGLAND also had trouble finding enough men to fight her wars. So she hired foreign soldiers to fight the Americans. The Hessian Army which Washington captured at Trenton came from a little German state called Hesse - Kassel. The prince of such a state could sell his professional army to the highest bidder. In all, about 30,000 German soldiers fought against the Continental Army of the American Revolution.

When a few American leaders also wanted to buy such an army, it was found there was no real money to pay for them. No foreign country would take the paper money approved by the Continental Congress. The Congress did borrow some real money from a few rich citizens to buy supplies from foreign countries.

The Continental Congress and the states went on printing paper money but the more of it in circulation the less it was worth for buying anything.

You and I wonder how the American Revolution ever was won. It would have been lost but for the courage of a few patriots and their never - to-give-up leader George Washington. We wonder how he ever had the heart to go on till victory was won.

The foregoing is based on an authentic historical article by Mabelle Martin in the February 1966 issue of Highlights For Children.

5 Children Injured In School Bus Crash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five children sustained minor injuries Monday in a school bus crash in nearby Plum Borough.

Police said the driver, Harry Federoff, 53, of Renton, reported a front wheel of the bus froze and it swerved into a utility pole.

Melissa Pfaff, 13; James Testa, 14; George Stephens, 12; James Ingham, 13; and Ronald Small, 14; were treated at physician's offices and sent home.

A teaspoon of cornstarch added to a cup of salt that you place in shakers will keep salt flowing freely in damp weather. Another trick that also does this is to add a few grains of uncooked rice to the salt.

Navy Trains 3 Of Midland

Three Midland area men are taking basic training at the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Center.

They are:

Seaman Rct. Robert A. Bogovich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Bogovich of 1380 Tuscarawas Road, Beaver R. D. 2, Seaman Rct. Kenneth A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy C. Johnson of Smiths Ferry, R. D. 1, and Seaman Rct. Ronald E. Honaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver R. Honaker of 48-A Midland Heights.

Shipfitter Fireman Thomas H. Patton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Patton of Industry R. D. 1, has returned to Norfolk, Va., after a series of special operations aboard the vessel Tidewater at St. Croix in the Virgin Islands.

Pvt. George L. Drakulich, son of Mrs. Mildred Drakulich of 2 Midland Ave., Midland, recently participated in an 11-day field training exercise conducted by the 3rd Infantry Division in Germany. Drakulich is a driver in Headquarters Co. and is serving with 1st Battalion of the division's 64th Armor near Kitzingen.

Electronic Technician Seaman Thomas C. Tray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Tray of 3480 Tuscarawas Road, Beaver R. D. 2, has reported for duty at the U. S. Naval Communication Station in Sidi Yahia, Morocco.

Weather Poses Chief Problem In Saturn 1B Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Predictions of marginal weather — high winds and too many clouds — remained the main concern today as the countdown progressed toward Wednesday morning's scheduled flight of the first Saturn 1B rocket and Apollo moonship.

Weather permitting, the 225-foot-tall Saturn 1B, with enough fuel on board to give it one-twentieth of the explosive capacity of the A-bomb that leveled Hiroshima, is due to rumble skyward at 7:45 a.m. EST on a 39-minute jaunt to a target area in the Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Riding on its nose will be an unmanned version of the cone-shaped Apollo spaceship which will carry three Americans to the moon. This will be the maiden flight for both the 650-ton Saturn 1B — the most powerful rocket ever built by the United States — and the Apollo moonship.

Hundreds of industrial executives, representing numerous companies which pooled their top talent to piece together the space-age marvel, plan to be on hand to witness the blast-off. The launch will be carried on the three major television networks.

Seeks Senate Seat

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Assistant Allegheny County Solicitor Thomas M. Rutter Jr. said Monday he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate seat vacated by Leonard C. Staisey, named by the Democratic state policy committee as the candidate for lieutenant governor.

Truck May Replace Camel

ALGIERS (AP) — The camel, historic desert cruiser, may soon give way to the automobile on the ancient caravan route across the Sahara, if plans go through for a superhighway across the world's greatest wasteland.

Eight African governments hope to construct an asphalt span from the Mediterranean coast to the Niger River that would enable a motorist to make the 2,000-mile trip in a few days.

Trucks with special tires and survival equipment have been venturing across the Sahara for some time. The trip is hazardous and uneconomical for large-scale freight movement.

An asphalt highway exists from Algiers to the oilfields around Hassi Messaoud, a distance of 500 miles. Beyond that, an ill-defined track winds for 1,500 miles across the virtually uninhabited, sandblown wasteland.

Drivers have to undergo special desert training, carry compasses, snake serum and heavy equipment to dig their vehicles out of the sand. Water and gasoline are available only at outposts hundreds of miles apart.

At many points, there is no track at all, but only a trace of parallel tire marks in the sand. In some sections, progress is less than 40 miles a day.

The new highway would make a substantial contribution to the development of the Sahara region and change the habits of nomadic tribes hitherto barely touched by civilization.

Morocco, Alberia, Tunisia, Mali, Mauritania, Chad, Niger and the United Arab Republic hope to raise $127 million to build the road and to supply about $4.25 million a year to maintain it.

Construction would take at least 12 years. Preliminary surveys are being made by the United Nations Special Fund, which is expected to contribute to the over-all cost.

A modern trans-Sahara communications link was long the dream of French colonial administrators. They actually built two rail lines several hundred miles into the desert. The farther advanced, however, the more formidable the difficulties became. The project finally was abandoned.

It is estimated that 25,000 trucks and passenger vehicles would use the road every year. The cost of freight movements from Algiers to the Niger would be cut by more than half and the time for the trip reduced by 80 per cent.

One Of Jaycees' Top Young Men Shoots Himself

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brilliant young space scientist who was chosen by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of 1965's ten outstanding young men, is dead today, a suicide, police reported.

Donald D. Williams, 34, a scientist with the Communications Satellite Laboratory of the Hughes Aircraft Co., shot himself in the head Monday night while standing in the bathtub at his apartment, officers said.

Williams, a native of Santa Monica, Calif., had been undergoing psychiatric treatment, but failed to keep an appointment with his psychiatrist Monday, detectives said.

They said that Williams' wife, Gloria, 45, a former policewoman, tried to dissuade him from taking his life as he loaded a Colt frontier model revolver.

Officers said Williams left a note leaving all his possessions to his wife. They had no children.

Nature Group Sets Activity

The Hancock County Nature Committee has planned several activities for the coming months, Oliver Johnson, county extension agent, has announced.

Workshop sessions will be held in the extension conference room in the Courthouse Annex in New Cumberland as follows: Felix Henrion, 7:30 p.m., March 10; special nature and conservation program, 7:30 p.m., April 7, and wood warblers, 7:30 p.m., April 28.

Field activities planned include the following:

Birds and Flowering Plants of Kings Creek and Weircrest, 7 a.m., April 24, with the group to meet at the Weirton General Hospital employe parking lot.

Bird Count in Tomlinson Run State Park, 7 a.m., April 30 and May 8, with the group to meet in the old administration building parking area by the group camp.

The nature committee is made up of Mrs. Gail Jones, chairman, Miss Kathryn Minesinger, secretary, and E. R. Chandler, William Murray, Richard Brenneman and Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Holbrook.

Play the nation's newest numbers game. Check your car's registration number. It could be worth $2332 cash to you. ($2332 also happens to be the price of a new Buick Special*. Isn't that a coincidence?)

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: Check that car registration of yours. If the first symbols of your vehicle identification number on it match up with one of those listed at the right, you might have won yourself $2,332 cash. No slogan to invent, no puzzle to solve. To find out for sure if you won, just hop down to your nearest Buick dealer's. He's got a list of complete winning numbers posted. (No, you don't have to own a Buick to have a winning number.) If your complete vehicle identification number appears on his list—you're in the money.

Residents of Hawaii, Missouri and Nebraska may either prefer sending a postcard to Buick Sweepstakes, P.O. Box 1174, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and requesting an official entry blank. Be sure to include your name, address, zip code and vehicle identification number. Or copy the above information on a plain piece of paper. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Entries must be postmarked before midnight Thursday, March 31, 1966. Nothing in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean metal tools that have become rusty?

A. — Soak these tools for several hours in a saturated solution of ammonium citrate, then rub the rust off with a wire brush or steel wool. Or, combine one cup of lye, a half-cup of washing soda, one quart of water, and a half -teaspoonful of potassium permanganate, and soak and scrub the tools as with the other solution.

Q. — How can I prevent eggs from bursting while boiling them?

A. — If one end of each egg is pricked with a needle before placing it in the water, there will be no bursting.

Q. — How can I remove stains from my mattresses?

A. — Place the mattresses in the sun, covering the stained areas with a thick paste of starch and cold water. After an hour or so, or when the paste has dried, rub or brush off. Most of the stains should have vanished, but if they're still too apparent, repeat the routine.

Q. — How can I clean nicke satisfactorily?

A. — Apply kerosene and whiting, then polish with a dry flannel cloth. Ordinary baking soda is also a good nickel polish.

A Junior Editors Quiz About ISLANDS

QUESTION: How do islands rise out of the sea?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Most new sea islands have been created by volcanoes under the water. Masses of molten rock from the hot places under the earth's crust find weak places where there are fissures or cracks. Suddenly, as in (1), a mass of such hot lava breaks through. It makes a pile of material, and as more underwater eruptions occur, the pile rises higher (2). At last, the mass is close to the surface (3). If more lava flows up, there is a tremendous explosion as tons of hot rock burst through the water, creating clouds of hissing steam (4). Now a new island appears to float on the surface (5) though actually it is the top of a mountain. Through the action of wind and rain, soil is formed. Plant seeds from the upper air drift down and take root. A few animals may be carried in on floating debris. Sometimes such an island will sink slightly below the surface. Then coral will grow around its edge and reach up to the surface, leading to a circular island called an atoll. Coconuts will be thrown by storms on such islands, and taking root, will grow to trees giving refreshing drink and food as well as shade. Many of the romantic South Seas islands have been formed in one or the other of these ways. The Hawaiian Islands are probably crests of volcanoes risen from the sea.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture, trying to get the romantic feeling of tropical islands—the sea a tight greenish blue, the girl's dress brilliant red.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: When waxing floors, I slip a plastic bag over my sponge mop, pin a soft piece of rag over this, and then apply the wax.

The cloth doesn't soak up too much wax, as the plastic bag prevents this, and I have no mop to wash either.

I just throw away the rag and plastic bag after I have finished.

HAZEL.

Well, glory be! Orchids to you.

That's just about the hint of the year. Thanks millions.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have always had trouble getting my graham cracker pie crusts to hold together.

Today I placed a small plastic bag over my hand, and was able to press the crust very hard without pulling the crumbs up, which usually happens when I use my bare hand.

PAT HOLTMAN.

And no gooey hands either, eh?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use elastic sewing thread to sew on that last button at the bottom of a narrow, button-down-the-front dress.

The elastic allows enough stretch so that the button won't pop off or tear the buttonhole.

DEAR HELOISE: To encourage our two children to take good baths and showers (not to just hop into the tub and back out as soon as they were wet!), I made a caddy to hang on the end of the shower rod.

I cut up an old plastic shower curtain, and made one row of pockets on it, long enough to hang down almost to the tub. (Looks like one lengthwise strip of a shoe bag.)

(Shampoo, bath oil, a back scrubber, manicure equipment, talcum powder, scouring powder to encourage them to clean the tub) etc., are put in the pockets so they are easily available.

The kids love the idea. It's all right at their finger tips.

MRS. LEIGH.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a baby of stroller-age who loves being outside, take advantage of this when taking clothes from the line.

Clip a large cash-and-carry bag on back of baby's stroller, and drop those socks, handkerchiefs, bath cloths, shoe strings, etc., into it as you unpin them.

These pieces were forever getting dropped until I started doing this.

If you're too busy to sort the clothes when you get back in the house, just put the bag nearby for a handy pair of socks, or a quickly needed bath cloth, etc.

MOTHER OF SIX.

DEAR HELOISE: I save the wire clips safety pins come on, and use them to string tiny buttons, which are then easily found in my sewing box.

MRS. ETHEL McFARLAND.

LETTER OF LOVE

DEAR HELOISE: While my son was in the hospital, and my daughter-in-law traveled 30 miles each day to visit him, I baby-sat with my 2-year-old granddaughter who cries whenever she is left with anyone. I was able to quiet her by keeping her parents' picture on display. When nap time came, she held their picture and went to sleep—like the baby she is.

GRANDMA HALL.

If you have a dishwasher and don't put your pans in the dishwasher, try putting a small bath towel on your drainboard and as you wash down on the towel.

The towel will absorb the moisture and also prevent marring your plastic drainboard, or making aluminum marks on a tile one. (Whether you have a dishwasher or not, you are still protecting your counter.)

When I start cooking supper, I lay a folded towel on the drainboard right then. As each pan is used, I swish it with my little brush (which has been dipped in detergent), scald it under the faucet, and turn it upside down on the towel.

By the time the dishes are done, the pans are dry, and I put the towel on a rack to dry before the netx meal.

HELOISE.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Washington Had Trouble Getting Men

More and more young men are being drafted into the Armed Services to defend our nation and to help other nations defend their liberties.

Dr. Garry Myers

While George Washington was leading the Continental Army in the American Revolution he did not have such a way to raise and recruit his army. He had to depend on volunteers. There was no strong central government then in what later became the United States of America. By August, 1776, the Continental Army had 16,000 men against the British army of 24,000. In November of that year the American army numbered 4,000 against the British army of 26,900. By December the American army had only 3,300 solid to face 27,700 British soldiers in all.

The smallness of the Continental Army and its rapid drop in numbers resulted from the way it was recruited.

TODAY OUR central government drafts men and tells them how long to serve. The Continental Army did not have the power to draft soldiers. It did not have the power to tax the people for money to pay the soldiers, to supply them with arms and munitions, or for food, clothing and other things to carry on a war.

The Continental Congress had to rely upon the states to supply their share according to their population. Each state could merely ask each community to furnish its share. It was only voluntary enlistment and each soldier chose the length of time he would serve — "from three months to three years or for the duration of the war."

Right after Concord and Bunker Hill there was enthusiastic enlistment, though most of these volunteers signed up for short periods. When their time was up they went home. Then it became harder and harder to get men to volunteer and most of them wanted to serve only in their own states.

As the war dragged on, Virginia began drafting soldiers. Some other states followed, but there still was troubles as men could hire substitutes instead of serving themselves.

ENGLAND also had trouble finding enough men to fight her wars. So she hired foreign soldiers to fight the Americans. The Hessian Army which Washington captured at Trenton came from a little German state called Hesse - Kassel. The prince of such a state could sell his professional army to the highest bidder. In all, about 30,000 German soldiers fought against the Continental Army of the American Revolution.

When a few American leaders also wanted to buy such an army, it was found there was no real money to pay for them. No foreign country would take the paper money approved by the Continental Congress. The Congress did borrow some real money from a few rich citizens to buy supplies from foreign countries.

The Continental Congress and the states went on printing paper money but the more of it in circulation the less it was worth for buying anything.

You and I wonder how the American Revolution ever was won. It would have been lost but for the courage of a few patriots and their never - to-give-up leader George Washington. We wonder how he ever had the heart to go on till victory was won.

The foregoing is based on an authentic historical article by Mabelle Martin in the February 1966 issue of Highlights For Children.

5 Children Injured In School Bus Crash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five children sustained minor injuries Monday in a school bus crash in nearby Plum Borough.

Police said the driver, Harry Federoff, 53, of Renton, reported a front wheel of the bus froze and it swerved into a utility pole.

Melissa Pfaff, 13; James Testa, 14; George Stephens, 12; James Ingham, 13; and Ronald Small, 14; were treated at physician's offices and sent home.

A teaspoon of cornstarch added to a cup of salt that you place in shakers will keep salt flowing freely in damp weather. Another trick that also does this is to add a few grains of uncooked rice to the salt.

Weather Poses Chief Problem In Saturn 1B Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Predictions of marginal weather — high winds and too many clouds — remained the main concern today as the countdown progressed toward Wednesday morning's scheduled flight of the first Saturn 1B rocket and Apollo moonship.

Weather permitting, the 225-foot-tall Saturn 1B, with enough fuel on board to give it one-twentieth of the explosive capacity of the A-bomb that leveled Hiroshima, is due to rumble skyward at 7:45 a.m. EST on a 39-minute jaunt to a target area in the Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Riding on its nose will be an unmanned version of the cone-shaped Apollo spaceship which will carry three Americans to the moon. This will be the maiden flight for both the 650-ton Saturn 1B — the most powerful rocket ever built by the United States — and the Apollo moonship.

Hundreds of industrial executives, representing numerous companies which pooled their top talent to piece together the space-age marvel, plan to be on hand to witness the blast-off. The launch will be carried on the three major television networks.

Sahara Highway

Truck May Replace Camel

ALGIERS (AP) — The camel, historic desert cruiser, may soon give way to the automobile on the ancient caravan route across the Sahara, if plans go through for a superhighway across the world's greatest wasteland.

Eight African governments hope to construct an asphalt span from the Mediterranean coast to the Niger River that would enable a motorist to make the 2,000-mile trip in a few days.

Trucks with special tires and survival equipment have been venturing across the Sahara for some time. The trip is hazardous and uneconomical for large-scale freight movement.

An asphalt highway exists from Algiers to the oilfields around Hassi Messaoud, a distance of 500 miles. Beyond that, an ill-defined track winds for 1,500 miles across the virtually uninhabited, sandblown wasteland.

Drivers have to undergo special desert training, carry compasses, snake serum and heavy equipment to dig their vehicles out of the sand. Water and gasoline are available only at outposts hundreds of miles apart.

At many points, there is no track at all, but only a trace of parallel tire marks in the sand. In some sections, progress is less than 40 miles a day.

The new highway would make a substantial contribution to the development of the Sahara region and change the habits of nomadic tribes hitherto barely touched by civilization.

Morocco, Alberia, Tunisia, Mali, Mauritania, Chad, Niger and the United Arab Republic hope to raise $127 million to build the road and to supply about $4.25 million a year to maintain it.

Construction would take at least 12 years. Preliminary surveys are being made by the United Nations Special Fund, which is expected to contribute to the over-all cost.

A modern trans-Sahara communications link was long the dream of French colonial administrators. They actually built two rail lines several hundred miles into the desert. The farther advanced, however, the more formidable the difficulties became. The project finally was abandoned.

It is estimated that 25,000 trucks and passenger vehicles would use the road every year. The cost of freight movements from Algiers to the Niger would be cut by more than half and the time for the trip reduced by 80 per cent.

One Of Jaycees' Top Young Men Shoots Himself

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brilliant young space scientist who was chosen by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of 1965's ten outstanding young men, is dead today, a suicide, police reported.

Donald D. Williams, 34, a scientist with the Communications Satellite Laboratory of the Hughes Aircraft Co., shot himself in the head Monday night while standing in the bathtub at his apartment, officers said.

Williams, a native of Santa Monica, Calif., had been undergoing psychiatric treatment, but failed to keep an appointment with his psychiatrist Monday, detectives said.

They said that Williams' wife, Gloria, 45, a former policewoman, tried to dissuade him from taking his life as he loaded a Colt frontier model revolver.

Officers said Williams left a note leaving all his possessions to his wife. They had no children.
